Skinny Skribbles

Around And About Town

With C. F. (Skinny) SKIRVIN

Gratitude is a soil on which joy thrives.—Auerbach.

And long after Auerbach expressed it, the soil is returning its harvest and the soul voicing its gratitude. Thanksgiving day is a study in dependence. Not a new experience, but an old custom, recognized during the days of Abraham when the granaries were filled, and carried down to the prayerful service of the Pilgrim fathers.

* * *

It is the annual appraisal, when the labor of the year is inventoried by the amount of goods on hand, when the domestic mathematician spaces the supply of food over the period between the harvest just closed and the one which is to come. It is a frugal procedure which all thoughtful providers take at the harvest time, and pause in an attitude of thankfulness to express their appreciation for an adequate return for their daily toil.

* * *

In days of old enough to carry on seemed to suffice, for wants were few and the simplicity of life free from exacting requirements. The elemental hazards prevailed as they do now. Frost and flood and drouth imposed their penalties. The prophets foretold the famines with uncanny accuracy, and it proved to be a luck sale when Joseph was turned over to the Egyptians. For seven years is a long time to go without a harvest.

* * *

In the Pilgrim days there was barely enough. Now we have too much. I doubt if we are any happier with all of our over-production and scientific blessings. Most of the game then was from wild life. Now it is domesticated, and I often hear a lot of growling about some of it.

* * *

There's a wide difference between the harvest of today and the harvest time of the Pilgrim fathers, so far as methods go. The old wooden flail and hand power has given way to the motorized International harvester. It is now a machine age, from the field to the politician. You collect some chaff in both operations. But gee, who wanted to get along without a harvest with all the neighbors helpin'; and come to think of it I'm inclined to believe that's where the composer of "Water Boy" has drawn his inspiration.

* * *

Most of us just think of Thanksgiving as a day when we can see how much we can get on the table and often too much of it in our stomach, and for that gastronomic violation, the gormandizers are responsible for sodium acetylsalicylate radio programs. They seldom see beyond the ground and what comes out of it. They neglect to meditate upon the mysteries of nature and the varied elements entering into the production of what sustains human life. They grab and grunt, and of such are the trough and squeal.

* * *

But for those who meditate and inquire how and why, the wonders of the universe unfold the blessings of life, and recipients understand how valuable and necessary is cooperation with Divine law if the human race is to receive and enjoy what the Creator has placed within our hands.

* * *

Trouble is we expect everything because everything we have needed has always been provided. But the wise man nurtures and waters and watches his harvest and feeds his stock so that he can have something to be thankful for when the seasons are dormant to sowing and reaping. You will enjoy your turkey tomorrow much more if with the family you give God thanks for what you have and then start eating. Prayer is a good appetizer.

* * *

A glance at the world today presents a vivid picture of why this nation has special cause for thanksgiving. It is at peace with the world, and a disposition to remain so. True, we have the poor with us, and always will have, but there is a natural sympathy surging through our souls which responds to calls for assistance, and those calls are answered through generous giving. Just now the Red Cross and the Christmas seals campaign are soliciting our sympathy and support. The answer to the Community Chest was fully satisfied.

Shaw, 2 Others Indicted

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Joe Shaw and two other high officials in the recent administration for former Mayor Frank Shaw were indicted today on 50 felony counts of conspiracy to alter public records in connection with sale of city jobs.

Those indicted besides Joe Shaw, brother-secretary of the former mayor, are:

William Cormick, former civil service commissioner who resigned in the city "clean up" instituted by the new mayor, Fletcher Bowron.

A member of another Shaw city commission, named only as "John Doe."

The offense charged carries a possible penalty of from one to 14 years in prison.

Immediately the indictment was voted, Foreman Robert McCurdy of the county grand jury said it is ready to plunge at once into new phases of the clean up inquiry.

"From what the jury has learned, it is indicated that our inquiry should now be broadened," he said.

McCurdy went into conference with District Attorney Buron Fitts and Deputy City Attorney W. Joseph McFarland.

The indictment was returned in the court of Superior Judge Clarence Kincaid, who issued bench warrants for the arrest of Joe Shaw and Cormack.

Bessemyer Parole Awaits Probe

SAN QUENTIN PRISON. (AP)—The state board of prison terms and paroles will make further investigation before considering the application of Gilbert H. Beesemyer, Los Angeles building and loan swindler, for fixing of a parole date.

Beesemyer entered prison in 1930 to serve sentences of four years on 10 counts of grand larceny, to run consecutively. Although it would be some time before he would be eligible for parole, he asked that a date be set. The board postponed action on his case yesterday.

Officers Killed Answering Call

NEW YORK. (AP)—Two radio car policemen were killed today in a crash in St. Albans, Queens, as they hurried to the home of a woman who was quarreling with a plumber over a bill.

The radio car, driven by Clarence Clark, apparently hit a rut and swerved into a five-ton truck. Clark and Officer Victor Cooper were killed.

Ex-Auditor of U. C. L. A. Guilty

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Earle S. Richardson, 50, former auditor for the Associated Students of U. C. L. A., pleaded guilty today of four felony counts, and Judge Clarence Kincaid set Dec. 7 for hearing on his application for probation.

Richardson confessed he took the students' money to bet on horse races. He said he lost $27,000 playing the races.

L. A. Jury Convicts CIO Union Head

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—Michael Yavenditti, president of the CIO's Steel Workers' Organizing Committee local, was convicted today of four counts of simple assault after a long trial of himself and seven others on charges of terrorism in a strike at the American Can company.

TO QUIT? — Washington observers believe that Postmaster General James A. Farley will quit the Cabinet, as soon as he can find a good business connection. He has differed much with the President, recently.

A Thanksgiving Message

By Rev. C. E. Holman
Pastor, First Methodist Episcopal Church

From the very earliest dawn of history men have sensed their dependence upon a Divine Providence, and days, and sometimes weeks, of thanksgiving have been observed, sometimes through fear and often because of real gratitude.

Tradition has it that the American observance of the day came as a result of a long series of fasting and prayer, when one farmer of good common sense arose to suggest that, instead of constantly bombarding heaven with petitions and complaints, it would be better to proclaim a day of thanksgiving. And why not, for, after all, their lot was better than it might have been, their inconveniences were diminishing every day as the colony grew stronger, the earth had begun to reward their labor and, above all, they were there in the full enjoyment of liberty, civil and religious.

Thus Governor Bradford issued the first proclamation in 1621, and with more or less regularity the day was set apart by presidents, congress or governors until 1864, since which time the President has annually issued a Thanksgiving proclamation. Like the people of other days, we need to render thanks to God for the blessings of our days.

The rapid advance of science has seemed to some to carry us beyond dependence upon the Divine, but the leading scientists of the world continue to insist that the discoveries of science only reveal what has long been in the mind of God, and that our dependence is more than ever in Him.

Our greatest danger in these days, with regard to Thanksgiving, is that we will become complacent and self-satisfied feeling that it is because of our virtue that we are blessed above other peoples. Our thankfulness over being at peace with the world needs to be tempered with shame as we remember that American bombs are killing innocent women and children in China; our thankfulness that we are free from such oppression as now permeates Germany should not blind us to the fact that we still have race prejudice and injustice in our midst; our thankfulness for an abundance of material blessings should not make us forget the thousands who face real suffering in our land.

We are dependent upon God, we do owe Him gratitude for all of life's blessings, and the only adequate way to properly discharge our debt to Him is to live thankfully. Not lip service, or even an emotional stir at this particular time of the year, will suffice.

A thankful heart will seek to discover means whereby all these blessings which we enjoy will be the heritage of all people everywhere.

LUCKY AMERICA!

MRS. DAVIS IS FOUND GUILTY IN ARSON CASE

Mrs. Margaret M. Davis, 65-year-old Santa Ana beauty operator, today was facing a penitentiary sentence for the burning of her South Main street beauty parlor last June 28.

A jury of 11 women and one man returned a verdict of guilty at 8:37 p. m. yesterday in Superior Judge H. G. Ames' court, where Mrs. Davis had been on trial on an arson charge three days. Judgment will be pronounced by Judge Ames at 1:30 p. m. Friday.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Robert Gardner, who prosecuted, said in his argument that Mrs. Davis stood to collect $1100 from the fire insurance on the beauty shop at 1125 South Main street. She had taken out the insurance, he said, at the instance of Irvin Fickas, from whom she was purchasing property on North Main street, and Fickas' $400 chattel mortgage was protected by the policy. Mrs. Davis, however, would have collected all insurance payments above Fickas' $400, Gardner said, amounting to $1100 on the basis of a $1500 insurance policy which she took out.

Both prosecution and defense conceded that the fire was incendiary, firemen having testified windows and doors were shut tight and a strong smell of kerosene was evident. Three separate fires in different parts of the house were quenched by fire crews.

"This fire was set by someone," said Gardner, "and outside of Mrs. Davis the only person I can think of who could have done it is the insidious Dr. Fu Manchu."

"It looks like the fire was set by somebody," said Defense Counsel Leo Friis, "but I don't think that Mrs. Davis was that somebody . . . if she were guilty, do you think she would go so far as to visit the insurance company for a payment after she had been accused of setting the fire?"

Storm Batters British Shores

LONDON. (AP)—Wild November gales battered shipping today and smashed at the shores of Great Britain.

While lifeboats went to the aid of small craft, the liner Queen Mary, which left New York Nov. 18, was unable to land 200 passengers and 1500 bags of mail at Plymouth and was forced to proceed to Southampton.

The gale caused postponement of the battleship Royal Oak's departure from Portsmouth for Norway to carry home the body of Queen Maud.

Gems Stolen From Actress' Home

HOLLYWOOD. (AP)—Rifling the hidden jewel box of Actress Whitney Bourne, while covering her maid with a revolver, a youthful burglar fled early today from her home with an undetermined amount of loot.

Miss Bourne is reported in San Francisco, with her return to Hollywood not expected for several days.

The young gunman cut the telephone wires in the basement before climbing to a balcony and gaining entrance to Miss Bourne's bedroom through a widow.

Church Services, Turkey Dinners, Football on Thanksgiving Program

Orange county will celebrate America's day of Thanksgiving tomorrow in a program that will include turkey dinners in many a home, religious services in dozens of churches, free dinner to needy children, and a gridiron civil war between Santa Ana and Fullerton.

Five hundred needy Santa Ana boys and girls—who otherwise would have little to be thankful for—will feast at a turkey dinner at the Green Cat cafe. The dinner is being given free by the proprietor, O. W. Hinegardner. Several local service clubs, the Elks and Masonic lodges are cooperating.

Children from 6 to 12 years of age, will be served. No tickets will be given, but various civic bodies are providing names of some of those who serve the dinners. Dinner will be served from noon to 3 p. m.

The Salvation Army began this morning distributing baskets of food to the most needy persons of the city. This will continue today and tomorrow.

A real honest-to-goodness turkey dinner will be served at the Salvation Army shelter tomorrow for transients, officials announced.

Both tonight and tomorrow, devout residents will gather at the city's churches to commemorate the day of Thanksgiving, some joining in union services.

LANDON URGES PRES. LEHMAN

NEW YORK. (AP) — Gov. Herbert H. Lehman was suggested as an outstanding candidate for the Democratic nomination for president in 1940 today by Alfred M. Landon, defeated Republican candidate for president in 1936.

Landon made his suggestion in an interview after a luncheon given in connection with his appointment as honorary chairman of the Century of Service committee of Boston university's school of theology.

Rabbi Urged as Assembly Chaplain

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—Thomas A. Maloney of San Francisco, assemblyman from the 20th district, suggested today that the assembly choose as rabbi a chaplain at its next session to show the lack of Jewish prejudice in California.

4 Go To Arizona City For Wedding

PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP)—Marriage licenses issued yesterday include: Rex Robert, 28, Colton, Calif., and Gertrude A. Loudenback, 34, Balboa, Calif.; Carl John Johnson Hill, 35, Laguna Beach, Calif.; and Calla Lilly Strotz, 33, San Bernardino, Calif.

Supervisor Turns Detective, and Two Boys Are Caught

County Supervisor John Mitchell turned detective last night, and his activities resulted in jailing of two youths charged with trespassing.

Mitchell called the sheriff's office last night, reporting chicken thieves on the C. G. Crosby property on Verano road. Deputies Ed Hoffman and Ezra Stanley investigated, and jailed Wilbur W. Fielder, 18, Garden Grove, and Richard L. Mantor, 18, Santa Ana, both truck drivers. They were booked in the county jail on trespassing charges.

Apostolic Envoy Named to London

VATICAN CITY. (AP) — Pope Pius today appointed an apostolic delegate to London. Vatican sources said it was the first time since the 16th century reformation that such an appointment had been made.

Monsignor William Godfrey, rector of the venerable English college in Rome since 1930, was named to the post.

The Italian press published reports from London that the vatican's action was believed to be a move seeking British support in the church's conflict with Germany over the treatment of German Catholics.

FLIERS BOMB BARCELONA

BARCELONA. (AP) — Eight Insurgent warplanes swooped on Barcelona this morning in the first severe air raid the government capital has suffered in weeks.

At least 31 persons were killed and more than 70 wounded in the upper section and port area of the city, as the raiders first made a combined attack and then returned 50 minutes later in two sections for renewed assault.

One of the attacking planes, hit by anti-aircraft fire, burst into flames in full view of thousands watching the raid from roof-tops and the streets. A thunderous cheer went up.

Drilling of 24 New Wells Starts

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP)—California oil field operations stepped up last week with starts on drilling of 24 new wells, compared with 18 in the preceding week. Though the drilling rate was substantially lower than that of last year, redrilling old wells for better production has run somewhat ahead of 1937.

TRAIN KILLS TWO

SAN BERNARDINO. (AP) — Struck by a Santa Fe railroad work train in Cajon Pass, two track repairmen, J. J. Robinson, 44, and Calvin L. Davidson, 42, died of injuries last night.

British Leaders In Paris

PARIS. Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain and Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax reached Paris for a visit today soon after announcement was made of a new French-German agreement to decide future disputes in consultation rather than war.

The British statesmen, coming for talks expected to result in a virtual military alliance with France, were cheered several minutes by crowds at Saint Lazare station.

Premier Daladier, foreign minister Georges Bonnet, and Sir Eric Phipps, the British ambassador, met the visitors.

FRONTIER RECOGNIZED

The French-German understanding, a development European statesmen have been awaiting as a possible cornerstone on which to build European peace and collaboration, complements a British-German anti-war accord signed by Munich Sept. 30 by Chancellor Hitler and Chamberlain.

The new accord goes farther, however, by recognizing formally the present French - German frontier.

In other words, Hitler will promise again in writing that Germany lays no further claim to Alsace-Lorraine, provinces returned to France by Germany after the World war and over which the two countries have fought through their history.

"SPIRIT OF MUNICH"

The accord amounts to a reaffirmation of "the spirit of Munich," and is labelled by its supporters as a determination to solve international differences by consultation rather than by warfare or threats of war.

LEVY ON 20% OF WEALTH

BERLIN. (AP)—The German government ordered a levy of 20 per cent of Jewish fortunes exceeding $2000 today to pay the $400,000,000 fine imposed for the assination of Ernest Vom Rath, Paris embassy secretary, by a Jewish boy.

The decree defining the means of collecting the fine in four installments was published in the official gazette as the German propaganda machine went into full swing with a warning no mercy would be accorded in writing "the last chapter of the Jewish question in Germany."

ALIEN JEWS EXEMPT

The levy is to be imposed on German Jews and those who live in Germany but are without citizenship in other countries. Foreign Jewish citizens are exempt.

Payments are to be made to the state treasury. Payments by insurance companies to Jews for damage done their shops and synagogues during the Nov. 10 violence, after Vom Rath's death, are to be turned over to the government.

These amounts will be accepted as partial payment of the levy. If the insurance payments exceed the 20 per cent levy, however, the entire amount will be confiscated by the government.

The entire 20 per cent levy must be paid by Aug. 15, 1939. Jews just make their payments without further notice and will be subject to further penalties if they fail to do so.

FIGHT OPENS OVER $59,095 ESTATE HERE

A brother and sister of the late John William Newman, wealthy Seal Beach resident, went into court today to attempt to take their brother's estate away from Mrs. Catherine L. Newman, whom they claim never was legally married to the decedent.

Superior Judge H. G. Ames today began hearing testimony in the will contest brought by Julia N. Smith and Bernard Newman of Los Angeles, who charge Mrs. Newman had a husband still living when she went through a marriage ceremony with Mr. Newman in Riverside in September, 1922.

They also claim Mrs. Newman, for 20 years a school teacher, used her "strong and dominating personality" for undue influence over her husband. Her daughter by a former marriage, Ruth S. Whidden, to whom the property would go on Mrs. Newman's death, also is named a respondent in the action.

Mr. Newman's estate has been appraised at $59,095.05. He died Oct. 30, 1937, and on Nov. 19 of that year Superior Judge G. W. Freeman of Riverside, sitting here, admitted the will to probate with Mrs. Newman as executor. The will left the entire estate to the widow.

Mrs. Smith and Bernard Newman, the contestants, claim that Mr. Newman had made a will in 1924 leaving his estate to the widow; but allege that after he inherited $40,000 from the estate of another brother she induced him to make a second will in 1936, still bequeathing all his property to her.

The former husband of Mrs. Newman alleged in the contestants' petition was not named; but Mrs. Newman has filed in the case a copy of the death certificate of H. W. Smith.

Stolen Holiday

KANSAS CITY. — Possibilities of a Christmas parole for 42 prisoners in the Missouri penitentiary were less bright today.

Howard Hill, state probation officer, left the convicts' holiday applications in his parked car. They were stolen.

LAWYER QUITS IN SEX CASE

James W. Rea, Santa Ana laborer accused of a sex crime against a 14-year-old girl last Sept. 16, today was without an attorney.

He was accused by Leo Friis, Anaheim attorney originally appointed to defend him, of concealing money which could be used to engage an attorney, and of refusing to cooperate with the court-appointed counsel.

Friis made that statement today to Superior Judge James L. Allen, and was relieved from his duties in the case at his own request.

"This man has finances," Friis said. "One of his brothers came to me the other day to ask me to arrange to transfer some of his property to the brothers. He has refused to take my advice, and I respectfully ask to be relieved in this case."

Judge Allen continued Rea's trial, originally set for today but impossible because all three court departments were full, to Dec. 15. Meanwhile Rea must look up an attorney.

BURKHOLDER QUITS M. W. D.

LOS ANGELES. (AP) — Praised for his "rare ability" during six years as assistant general manager of the Metropolitan water district of Southern California, J. L. Bourkholder prepared today to leave for a new post as chief of the division of engineering in the American section of the international boundary commission at El Paso, Tex.

The water district's board of directors, in accepting Burkholder's resignation, declared:

"The economy, speed and safety records set . . . represent an achievement of which both you and the district may well be proud."

COLLECTIVE BARGAINING PLACED FIRST

WASHINGTON. (AP) — William Green told a senate committee today labor cannot accept industrial profit sharing unless it goes hand in hand with collective bargaining.

Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, said his organization was "unalterably opposed" to using the taxing power of the government to promote profit-sharing plans.

He added it also was opposed to amending the social security act to give tax credit for funds allocated to profit sharing.

Testifying before a special committee composed of Senators Herring (D., Iowa) and Vandenberg (R., Mich.), Green asserted labor had no quarrel with the principles involved in profit sharing, but it did not favor methods used in the past in developing such plans.

Commenting on claims that profit sharing was instrumental in causing peaceful labor relations in many instances, Green observed:

"What is needed in this situation is genuine organization of workers in unions so that they may have an agency for collecting and collating the facts of the work relationships and of the results of joint and individual work, for the purpose of joint discussion with management to define the principals and standards of compensation for work."

Declaring that "labor cannot be asked to accept blindly management's decision on what constitutes profits," Green outlined six points which he said should be taken into consideration in any cooperative efforts to determine true profits.

These were:

"1. Production and costs records must be equally available to union and management.

"2. Sales policies must be considered by both parties and be mutually acceptable.

"3. Salaries of executives and officers and returns to investors must be subject to the same conditions.

"4. Financial policies and proposals must be subjected to the same review and decision.

"5. The standard wages of producing workers, which are production charges, should be fixed by collective bargaining at the highest level industry could reasonably be expected to pay and should provide for customary standards of living proportionate to productivity as human labor power is increased by mechanical power and machine tools, and reflecting lower unit production costs.

"6. Profit-sharing or a partnership wage is the share which labor would have in the net income of the enterprise. In reality labor is a partner in production, not from the investment of capital, but from the investment of experience and work ability. As a partner labor would have a voice in determining rates of profit-sharing."

Green said recognition of "real partnership" would be the greatest incentive, to sustain efficiency in work, that industry could devise.

"Investors have always claimed that profits belonged exclusively to them because they alone bore the risk of industry," Green testified. "But we well know the risk of business is borne by every person dependent upon it for jobs and income. The risk of wage-earners is no less frightening and hazardous than that of inventors—food, clothing and shelter are at stake."

BANK CLUBS TO FREE MILLIONS

Merchants of Santa Ana will share in a state-wide outpouring of Christmas funds which will be released to members of the Bank of America Christmas club throughout California on Dec. 1.

According to C. A. Warren, vice president and manager of Bank of America here, approximately $12,000,000 will be distributed to Christmas savers at the 494 branches of the bank in 307 California communities. This is 26 per cent more than last year.

In Santa Ana the total distribution will be $22,100, to 415 local Christmas club members.

It is estimated that 70 per cent of the money saved in this type of account goes immediately into trade channels. The remainder is re-invested in savings and securities.

250 MISSING IN AVALANCHE

CASTRIES, St. Lucia, British West Indies. (AP)—Rescue workers today listed 250 persons as missing, many of them believed to be dead, after a series of landslides which crashed down this island's steep mountain sides following three weeks of torrential rains.

Roast Young Turkey With Oyster Stuffing Principal Item on President's Menu

WARM SPRINGS, Ga. (AP)—A menu ranging from fresh fruit cocktails to nuts and cider, with roast young turkey and oyster stuffing intervening, was announced today for the Thanksgiving dinner of President and Mrs. Roosevelt.

The repast, to be served in the Warm Springs foundation Georgia hall restaurant at 7 p. m. Thursday, will be attended by approximately 500 persons, including the infantile paralysis patients, young and old, and their families.

Here's the order of the courses:

Fresh fruit cocktail.
Pascal celery, mixed olives, salted almonds.
Roast young turkey, oyster stuffing, cranberry sauce.
Mashed and candied sweet potatoes.
New peas in butter.
Hubbard squash.
Parkerhouse rolls.
Harvest salad.
Old-fashioned plum pudding—hard sauce.
Meringue glace.
Apples-cluster, raisins-mints.
Coffee, milk, cider.

DRIVE OF RED CROSS TO END TOMORROW

The annual Red Cross roll call drive was drawing to a close in Orange county today, with Red Cross workers hurrying to complete their reports as soon as possible.

The campaign for members got under way Armistice day, and tomorrow is the official closing date.

The Santa Ana chapter of the Red Cross hopes to count approximately 2200 members when all reports are tabulated, according to Mrs. Laura R. Warren, executive secretary of the Orange County Council of the Red Cross.

Local firms enrolled one hundred per cent in the Red Cross this year include the Automobile Club of Orange county, Abstract Title Insurance company, Lynn L. Ostrander company, Coca Cola Bottling company, Crane company, and Vandermast clothiers, according to Mrs. Warren.

18 INITIATED BY SOCIETY

Formal initiation of 18 Santa Ana Junior college students into the local chapter of Phi Theta Kappa, national scholastic honor society, and election of officers were held when the organization met yesterday afternoon on the North Main street campus.

Josephine Butler was unanimously elected president of the chapter, and Isamu Masuda was named vice - president, while Eileene Gibbs was elected secretary-treasurer. Miss Butler announced a few plans for next semester.

Tentative plans will be made in the near future to conduct the annual penny drive, proceeds of which go to the student loan fund. The drive is expected to be held sometime in February, Miss Butler said.

New members of Phi Theta Kappa who were initiated yesterday are Hersche' Albrecht, Josephine Butler, Evelyn Eltiste, Betty Frye, Marjorie Gommel, Warren Hall, Alma Mae Hiatt, Phyllis Kogler, Isamu Masunda, Bette Ann Munson, Betty Neff, Carroll Richardson, Theodore Rischard, Irene Simon, Velma Sise, Juanita Stanfield, Marjorie Vollmer, and Lyndon Carman.

KIWANIANS VOTE ON MUSIC

Santa Ana Kiwanis club members listened to a musical program today—but the audience had a unique privilege of voting on the numbers it liked best.

The program was presented by the Kiwanis club chorus, directed by Whitford Hall, with Mrs. Grace Shields as accompanist. The voting was for the purpose of guiding the chorus in future selections. Nine numbers were presented.

Les Phillips played a saxophone solo, and G. Willard Bassett presented a vocal solo. Rev. Harry Owings was program chairman for the day.

Raymond D. Temple of Buena Park, lieutenant governor for division four, was present, introducing C. Jack Zinn of La Habra, the incoming lieutenant governor. President Maurice Enderle presided.

OLSON DODGES PENSION ISSUE

SACRAMENTO. (AP)—Gov.-elect Culbert L. Olson declined to comment today when asked at a press conference whether he would call a special election on the ham-and-egg pension plan, for which petitions are soon to be circulated.

"We'll determine what to do about that when I see it"—referring to a revamped state retirement proposal—he said, adding "no comment."

The newly elected governor will make a personal inspection of northern California institutions, he said, to get first-hand knowledge on the need for $16,425,000 in aggregate requests for new construction.

San Quentin prison will be included in the institutions he visits, he said, but he has made no plans for a conference, while there, with Tom Mooney.

HUNDREDS OF WPA WORKERS TO LOSE JOBS

Several hundred Orange county WPA workers will be laid off within the next 10 days.

Instructions from Washington that funds are running low today caused plans to be laid here for a large-scale lopping off of WPA workers, beginning with the inefficient ones and the class "B" or unskilled workers.

Five thousand men and women will be laid off in the eight counties of Southern California, reducing the rolls to 4800 persons. Local WPA offices had no estimate of the number of workers involved here, but said it would be several hundred.

"We are proceeding on the basis of employability," said Col. Donald Connolly, administrator for Southern California, "and are first eliminating the shirkers, the least efficient, and those showing the least need of relief by habitual absence from work . . . In addition to people in these groups, which probably will account for only a small part of the 5000, it will be necessary to lay off unskilled class "B" workers. This latter group is composed of men who are least employable because of their physical condition . . ."

The reduction program began some time ago by restricting assignments to those returning from private employment and by transfer of workers to other federal agencies. It is being used throughout the 11 western states. Reduction of the number of employes, Col. Connolly said, would be carried on in Southern California for the next week or 10 days.

DIES A 'ZANY,' ICKES ASSERTS

WASHINGTON. (AP)—Secretary Ickes called Rep. Dies (D., Tex.) the world's "outstanding zany" today and said hearings being held by Dies' committee on un-American activities were the most "outrageous that have ever been pulled off."

The cabinet officer gave his description of Dies at a press conference when asked for comment on testimony given before the committee yesterday by Alice Lee Jemison, Washington representative of the American Indian federation, who charged Ickes and the Indian commission under him were influenced by Communists.

At one point in his comments, the secretary referred to testimony received by the committee as "garbage."

Authorities Hold Abandoned Truck

A light panel delivery truck, hurriedly abandoned by two men in Santa Ana canyon last night, was being held for investigation today by sheriff's officers.

Deputy Sheriff J. W. Beld of Riverside county relayed the report of the truck here. Witnesses said two men drove up to one of the canyon camps in the truck, jumped out, climbed in a car following, and left in a cloud of gravel. Officers believe the truck may have been stolen.

SPANISH WAR VETERANS AND AUXILIARY DINE

Calumpit camp and its auxiliary, United Spanish War veterans gave a Thanksgiving dinner at the Knights of Columbus hall, last night, in lieu of the usual potluck dinner with roast pork, candied sweet potatoes, mashed potatoes and gravy as the main part of the menu, and the usual entertainment after the meal.

The dinner committee was composed of Past President Jean Tantlinger acting as the chairman and assisted by Bert Deck and wife, Charley A. Lindquist and wife, Richard R. Trueblood and wife, Mrs. Ethel Lindley, Charles E. Chatlain and Warren L. Cook. They were loudly and enthusiastically praised for the good things they provided. One hundred and ten persons were fed besides the members of the committee.

Commander Albert P. Dresser, who presided at the dinner and also at the entertainment features, announced that he accompanied Past Commander and District Inspector Charles I. Reagan to Whittier, last Friday evening, where Reagan inspected Rice W. Means camp No. 102 in the presence of Department Commander O. M. McFarland, of Oakland, and Department President Clara Fowler of San Francisco, who were paying official visits to that camp and its auxiliary.

The entertainment consisted of five baritone solos by Mr. Bruce Buell accompanied by Mrs. Buell, his mother, of 1725 West Eighth street, Santa Ana; five reels of moving pictures taken on a trip through Europe by John J. Harrison of 2040 North Broadway, Santa Ana, this summer.

During an intermission, President Ruth Hess announced that on Dec. 3, at 411 West Fourth street, a cooked food sale and bazar would be held by the auxiliary and that the proceeds would go for Spanish War veterans in the hospitals of Southern California.

Also announced was the dinner to be given by the auxiliary drill team as a benefit to the team, at the Knights of Columbus hall, next Tuesday evening at 6:30, a 35 cent meal to which the public is invited.

LONG QUESTION RULED OUT IN CALHOUN TRIAL

A question more than 1000 words long, recited from memory by an attorney and directed at a psychiatrist, astounded spectators late yesterday in the Charley Calhoun murder trial, now in its fifth day before a jury in Superior Judge James L. Allen's court.

The question was ruled out.

It was directed by Defense Atty. N. D. Meyer to Dr. E. H. Steele, Los Angeles psychiatrist who examined the 28-year-old slayer of Clyde Dillinger, 30, to determine whether or not Calhoun might have fired the fatal shot in a moment of unconsciousness.

Known as an hypothetical question, often directed to expert witnesses, the query by Meyer recited many facts in evidence, beginning with Calhoun's early education and leading up to the date of the fatal shooting June 26 in Midway City. It took 10 minutes to recite, and ended with an inquiry whether, considering the facts to be true, Calhoun "could have been unconscious at the moment he shot?"

Objections by Asst. Dist. Atty. Preston Turner that Meyer had assumed facts not in evidence were sustained by Judge Allen. Meyer said he would establish more foundation for the question, reframe it and ask it of Dr. Steele again later.

The record-length question covered more than three pages of the daily transcript of testimony, written each night by Shorthand Reporter W. J. White. The transcript, including testimony to 5 p. m. yesterday when court recessed, already covers 410 pages.

Meyer, whose defense is built around the theory that Calhoun—depressed by Dillinger's treatment of Calhoun's women relatives—fired the shot while he was not conscious of his act, told the court that improper parts of the hypothetical question might have been put in "unconsciously."

"You are not unconscious, are you?" remarked the court.

4 Found Dead of Gas Poison in Car

SOMERSET, Ky. (AP)—Four persons, one a woman, were found dead in an automobile, partly submerged in Pointed creek, 14 miles west of here today.

A coroner's jury found the deaths were caused by monoxide gas poisoning.

Victims were Emery Tilley, 21, Science Hill; Russ B. Phillips, 23, Science Hill; Ray Wilson, 21, Pulaski county, and Miss Flonnie Roberts, 25, Argyle, Ky.

TALBERT MEAT CO. HALTED BY COURT ORDER

J. F. Betschart, operator of the Talbert Meat company, was forestalled today in his determination to slaughter animals without a license.

Atty. Gen. U. S. Webb had to step in to prevent Betschart from his announced action of beginning butchering this morning, however. An injunction suit, filed yesterday afternoon in superior court, resulted in a temporary restraining order, signed by Superior Judge G. K. Scovel, preventing the threatened butchering operations.

Betschart said today he would abide by the court's order and take no action until the injunction suit is heard before Judge Scovel Friday afternoon.

The meat company proprietor, who has had several clashes with state inspectors over what he terms "persecution," had served notice on the board of supervisors and A. A. Brock, state director of agriculture, that he intended to begin slaughtering at 8 a. m. today, despite the fact that state inspecors had refused to issue him a license.

Yesterday afternoon Burdette Daniels, deputy attorney general, filed the injunction action in superior court. He alleged that Betschart's killing floor has not the proper slope and has cracks which might harbor bacteria; that there is no separate "condemned room" for diseased carcasses, and that there is no partition between the killing room and the market room—all assertedly grounds for refusal to issue a butchering license.

Betschart was arrested once before on a similar charge, but was acquitted by a jury in Huntington Beach justice court.

Board Considers Naming Attorney

Prospects of a county counsel to act as legal adviser to the county supervisors and thus take that load off the district attorney's shoulders, were discussed again yesterday afternoon by the county board.

Supervisor Steele Finley of Santa Ana brought up the much-discussed question again, saying he had been talking with L. A. West, Santa Ana attorney who formerly was district attorney, about the matter.

Deputy Dist. Atty. J. E. Walker pointed out provisions of state law which enable supervisors to name a county counsel who acts as the boards' adviser but is not a deputy district attorney. Walker will prepare an opinion on the subject within two weeks.

WIDOW'S STORY UNSHAKEN BY 10-HOUR QUIZ

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y. (AP)—A step by step in re-enactment of the eerie "helping hand" death case in which a 44-year-old housewife is charged with aiding her husband to die was ordered today by Police Chief John J. Donegan of Hastings-on-Hudson.

"I want to see exactly what happened," Chief Donegan said, "and I want to see if her reenactment follows her story."

The widow, Mrs. Marie Burckhalter, was held in $10,000 bail on a first degree manslaughter charge as Westchester county authorities withdrew a tentative verdict of suicide.

Under a seldom - invoked law, she is accused of "abetting" the automobile exhaust death of her huband, Eugene, 47, Chemical company executive, in the family garage at Hastings last Saturday.

Assist. Dist. Atty. Elbert T. Gallagher, describing Mrs. Burckhalter as a "very, very clever woman," said her story in the main had been unshaken throughout 10 hours of questioning ending at 1 a. m. today.

"There have been several small changes in her story," Gallagher said, "but she seems to have an adroit explanation for everything."

He indicated he was far from satisfied, however, and declared the case was "wide open."

Held with the widow, as a material witness in default of $2000 bail was Melvin Kittel, 34, dapper salesman and former Californian, who had been her companion frequently in recent weeks.

An examination of Mrs. Burckhalter continued, two psychiatrists sorted the facts of her life in search of an explanation for her conduct.

What sort of woman, Dr. James J. Vavasour of Amityville and Dr. William J. Doherty of Yonkers wanted to know, would give her husband a length of hose to pipe carbon monoxide into his car?

What sort of wife would stay away from her husband's funeral because "we never believed in funerals?"

While the psychiatrists pursued those questions, Dr. Amos O. Squire, county medical examiner, answered others with a report that Burckhalter's blood contained a lethal measure of carbon monoxide and that he had been drinking and taking hypnotic medicine, as his widow said.

The maid was quoted by Gallagher as saying:

"She (Mrs. Burckhalter) took him into the garage about noon. It was raining hard and the master was shaking, he was so weak. when she came back it was 3:40 p. m. by the kitchen clock, I said to her 'what you doing with that sick man in that cold garage? Want him to catch pneumonia?'

"'He's all right, Betty,' she said to me. 'He's in the car and I closed all the doors and windows and stuffed them with papers. He won't be in the draft. Just don't disturb him.'

"I wanted to go see how he was donng but she told me not to.

"I've worked in this house for 21 months and I never saw him fight with anyone. He'd take a bottle of liquor, lie down on a couch, and bother nobody.

"When he'd have a few drinks I'd get down on the floor and read the Bible to him. After I read a while he'd ask me to sing, and I'd croon a few hymns to him. I liked that man and I don't like the idea of his boy saying he was a regular devil in his cups."

DR. COLTRIN'S PRISON TERM SET 10 YEARS

Dr. Francis D. Coltrin, 80-year-old Fullerton physician convicted of murder and performing an illegal operation on a 16-year-old girl, must serve 10 years in San Quentin prison.

The state board of prison terms and paroles today had fixed the elderly physician's term at 10 years on the murder charge and five years on the charge of performing the operation. Superior Judge H. G. Ames, in whose court a jury found Dr. Coltrin guilty, had ruled that the terms should run concurrently.

The physician was convicted here after a sensational trial, and his conviction was upheld by the fourth district appellate and state supreme courts.

Dr. Coltrin was indicted by the county grand jury on the dual charge Feb. 19, 1935, following death five days earlier of a 16-year-old girl, on whom the physician asserted performed an illegal operation to prevent her from becoming a mother. Testimony in the trial indicated that the doctor, then 77, had taken $20 and the girl's watch in payment for treatment Feb. 4. He contended he did not actually perform the operation, but merely tried to prevent infection after the harm had been done by someone else; but his testimony before the grand jury was that he intended to perform the operation; and testimony of a nurse and other witnesses at the trial led to his conviction.

Skinny Skribbles

Our nation has avoided war. With all of our economic gloom the blessings far overshadow the sorrows.

* * *

For one thing, I'm glad the election is over. I'll be still more thankful if subsequent elections are more neighborly in their conduct, and cleaner in their motives. For you can't be thankful for an unkind deed, or get much rest from an unapproving conscience. Blessings are to the pure in heart, and the Golden Rule is still the best guide for conduct, even if it isn't in general practice.

* * *

There's a lot of things to be thankful for in this world, chief among them not money, but health. You are unwilling to admit that blessing until you get a comparison with some one whose physical afflictions force the admission from your lips. That is the time your money loses its value. And if today the meal is scant and the future does not portend what you wish for, thank God for what you have and have had, and for the blessings of good health. The outlook will improve from such a visualization.

* * *

"Beggar that I am, I am even poor in thanks," said Shakespeare in his Hamlet. Yet none of us are so poor that we cannot return thanks for some kind deed which we have either bestowed or received, for poor is that life indeed which cannot recall some touch of kindness to some one in need, or to have been the recipient of word or act which sent us on our way to better and more hopeful living. The sun shines through the way we live. It radiates joy for happiness.

* * *

If you have neglected to express your thanks, either audible or in secret, for the joy of living, well, it isn't too late now, is it?

BUSINESS AND PROFESSIONAL MEN ORGANIZE

A new organization of business and professional men and women was taking an active part in Santa Ana business and civic life today. It is the Associated Business and Professions of Santa Ana, of which E. M. Sundquist, insurance man, is president.

Sundquist explained that the new group is an organization of independent business and professional men and women formed to promote economic and civic education among members' employes, and to promote good-will between the public and business people.

As a first step in this direction the organization will bring to Santa Ana on Dec. 12 a well-known speaker from the University of Southern California, who will talk on "Your Home Town and You" at a free meeting to be held at 8 p. m. in the Ebell auditorium.

"We have secured for this meeting Dr. Thurston H. Ross, director of the Bureau of Business Research and School of Merchandising at U. S. C.," said Sundquist. "Dr. Ross is an interesting speaker, and his approach to modern problems is a practical, common-sense one which will appeal to a large number of people."

There will be no admission charge for the meeting, and door prizes will be given.

"We are bringing Dr. Thurston to Santa Ana as a gesture of good-will and as an expression of appreciation for the support given Santa Ana business people during the past year," said Sundquist. "We believe that the holiday season, when the spirit of cooperation is at its best, is an appropriate time for such an expression."

Newman Club to Take in Big Class

Plans were being completed today for formal initiation of 40 Santa Ana Junior college students into the Newman club next Wednesday evening, Nov. 30, according to President Jack Murphy.

Initiation of the new members will mark installation of the chapter in the local college. The club is composed of Catholic youths to promote fellowship and discuss current affairs topics, President Murphy said.

SALE OF YULE SEALS TO OPEN HERE FRIDAY

The annual sale of Chirstmas Seals will get under way in Orange county tomorrow in the never-ending fight against tuberculosis.

The sale opens on Thanksgiving day and continues until Christmas. Twenty thousand letters containing four million stamps will be delivered to residents of Orange county on Friday and Saturday as the drive swings under way.

Mayor Fred C. Rowland issued a proclamation today, officially opening the drive and calling upon the united support of the people of Santa Ana "in this great humanitarian endeavor."

The proclamation:

"Whereas, the advent of the Christmas season with all its prospective pleasures brings to mind the joy and satisfaction arising from the ability to make others happy, and

"Whereas, for many years there has been conducted an annual nation-wide sale of Christmas Seals by the National Tuberculosis association and its affiliated organizations, including the Orange County Tuberculosis and Health association, the proceeds o which furnish the financial sinews that aid and accelerate the triumphant endeavors of the medical profession and benevolent and charitable organizations to curb tuberculosis, and

"Whereas, confronted as we are with the necessity of continuing this important battle, now that the fruits of vicory have been achieved in large measure, as is indicaed by statistics compiled by the National Tuberculosis association and by the various public and private instrumentalities which have undertaken in the interest of humanity to suppress completely, in so far as is possible, this preventable and curable disease, to the end that future generations may profit and benefit by the diligent and determined efforts to relegate tuberculosis to the footnotes of medical history,

"Now, therefore, I, Fred C. Rowland, mayor of the city of Santa Ana do proclaim to all our people the annual sale of Christmas Seals to be conducted from Nov. 25, 1938 to the beginning of the year 1939, at the same time urging them to lend every support to this great humanitarian endeavor by purchasing "these seals of health," thus insuring that the benevolent work of eradicating tuberculosis will be consummated.

"Given under my hand in the city of Santa Ana this 18th day of November, in the year of our Lord one thousand nine hundred and thirty-eight."

'Man With Two Lives' Will Wed Wife No. 2 Again

PASADENA. (AP)—Davis E. MacDonald, "the man with two lives," will remarry his second wife next Monday in a judge's chambers.

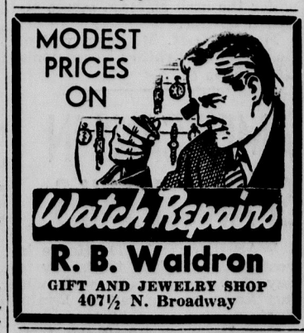

The wedding plans were announced by Superior Judge Frank C. Collier, who refused to hear MacDonald's plea for probation on a forgery conviction until he found a job and cleared up his marital status.

MacDonald, having vanished from Pittsburgh 14 years ago after feigning suicide, was declared legally dead and his first wife collected his $10,000 insurance.

In the meantime he had married again in New Orleans under the name of John Edgar Davis. His second wife bore him two children.

County Employes' Request For Pay Deductions to Meet Insurance Premium Puzzles

County employes want deductions made from their pay checks—but the board of supervisors isn't sure it's legal.

The deductions would be premiums on group life insurance arranged by the Orange County Employes Mutual Benefit association. J. Arthur Anderson, president of the association, appeared yesterday afternoon to discuss the matter with the board.

He said Auditor W. T. Lambert had consented to make the premium deductions from the employes' pay—but he asked that Lambert be given additional help to do the work.

That puzzled supervisors, who weren't so sure Lambert legally could make the deductions, and weren't at all sure they had the power to give Lambert more employes for other employes' benefit.

Dist. Atty. W. F. Menton said informally that he believed the auditor might make the deductions, but promised an opinion to settle both that question and the problem of extra help.

CHORUS WILL SING SUNDAY

The Orange County Farm bureau chorus will present a sacred concert in the First Methodist church of Santa Ana Sunday, Dec. 4, at 4:30 p. m., Director Monroe Sharpless of Fullerton announced today.

The program, consisting largely of sacred selections appropriate to the Christmas season, will be presented as a vesper service. This will be the second sacred concert offered by the farm bureau chorus, which consists of approximately 50 voices.

The chorus has appeared before many farm audiences in the county and has also participated in choral programs at the national farm bureau convention and state conventions.

A thrice weekly air service is now operating between Peking and Tokyo.

YOU CAN END HOME DRAFTS

The advent of cold weather will remind many home owners of drafty windows and doors.

Aside from heat loss and discomfort, a drafty house is a health hazard. A thorough job of weather-stripping will do much to eliminate this fault and may be accomplished at slight cost. The choice of materials is wide, and selection may be governed by the amount of money the home owner desires to put into the improvement.

The Property Improvement Credit plan of the Federal Housing administration offers a means of obtaining funds for such improvements. Lending institutions, qualified by the FHA, make these loans, which are repayable in convenient monthly installments.

IRRIGATION OF WALNUTS NOW ADVOCATED

Irrigation of walnut orchards, to supply moisture reservoirs prior to the beginning of growth in the spring, was recommended to Orange county ranchers today by the agricultural extension service.

Most walnut orchards have had no irrigation since August or prior to the harvest season, owing to a desire on the part of most growers to economize on expenditures by waiting for rain.

Growers were warned, however, that recent soil moisture tests made in local walnut orchards by Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg indicate a shortage of moisture below that which is requisite for normal leaf and fruit bud development for the next season.

Wahlberg said some time during the winter the grower should test his orchard for depth of moisture and rainfall penetration.

Here's another warning: don't irrigate too close to the trees. Wahlberg advised that irrigation water should be applied no closer than 6 or 8 feet to the tree. This is a precaution against wind tilting. A dry block around the trunk will serve as an anchor.

Oftentimes crown rot diseases are favored by excessive moisture in contact with the trunk, he said.

"Yes, things do stay cleaner here—practically everybody uses Natural Gas"

You notice the cleanness of Southern California's atmosphere most when you compare it with busy communities where natural gas is not available. That is why visitors here so often comment on the delightful freedom from soot.

They see what a difference it makes to have natural gas, a fuel cheap enough for everybody to use and yet so clean that it leaves no residue whatever.

But even more important is the fact that gas brings extra conveniences. It is the fast, effortless way to cook and it provides automatic refrigeration that is permanently silent.

For helpful information about any gas appliance, see a dealer or your gas company. Ask about the easy terms.

I Just Founa Out About Orange County

By BOB SWANSON

Nurses' Bureau

"Hello, Nurses' Register? Say, I'm sick abed out here, and I need a nurse. I want a blonde, yes, a tall blonde. Will you send her out right away?"

* * *

Requests such as that aren't very common, but they have occurred at Orange county's nursing bureau, where 92 graduate registered nurses are on call day and night for hospitals or physicians.

* * *

The register has been operated under the supervision of the California State Nurses association, district 10, for the past eight years. The district comprises all of Orange county.

* * *

This is a central exchange from which all hospitals in the county as well as private physicians, can draw upon for extra nursing help. The register also handles calls for the Orange county health department during week-ends and at night when the department offices are closed.

* * *

Operated in conjunction with the nurses register is a physicians and surgeons exchange. Doctors can be quickly located on emergency calls. A number of physicians have alternate telephone numbers listed, the alternate one being the exchange number.

* * *

Still another service is the listing of medical specialists, such as in eye, ear or nose specialists. Patients sometimes call in, ask where they can get specialized treatment. There is no preference by the exchange which gives the caller the names of every specialist in that field.

* * *

This call service actually began operating nearly 16 years ago, although it has been under the direction of the nurses association only for the past eight years. Headquatrers are at 2525 Santiago, Santa Ana, with Mrs. Alice Theal directing. There are two Santa Ana telephones, and one Orange phone.

* * *

The 92 nurses who pay a small fee yearly for the service make from 325 to 300 calls per month through the nursing service. Biggest majority of the calls are for hospital duty, with approximately five or ten per cent being calls for home duty.

* * *

There is considerable seasonal variation. There are certain times during the year, in summer for example, when calls are lighter. There is even a noticeable difference in surgery, because people evidently don't like to go to the hospital in summer months or on holidays.

* * *

Nursing calls and the stock market goes hand in hand, according to Mrs. Mabel Grouard, secretary-treasurer of the Orange county unit of the nurses association and head of the bureau. She says a slump in economic conditions, as seen through the stock market, often influences people to delay medical treatment.

* * *

She says agricultural communities feel a greater seasonal variation than railroad or manufacturing centers where the income of the wage-earner is steadier than that of the farmer, whose whose income is dependent upon his crop. A bad freeze in the citrus district might affect the number of calls for nurses, she claims.

* * *

A nurse listed with the call service may specify any type case she desires, and may specify the hours she desires to work. There are three shifts—7 a. m. to 3 p. m.; 3 p. m. to 11 p. m.; 11 p. m. to 7 a m. They may specify whether they prefer home or hospital duty.

* * *

The more limitations and conditions a nurse sets up, the more limited will be her income. Those who will accept practically any duty will have the greatest income.

* * *

While all hospitals in the county are served, St. Joseph takes 80 per cent of the nurses. (Hospitals have regular nursing staffs on each floor, but additional nurses must be available.

* * *

Mrs. Grouard says if it were not for the call service each hospital would be forced to maintain its own bureau. Each nurse would have to register with every hospital in the county, and that would open up the possibility of a nurse being called by two or three hospitals at one time.

* * *

Old system of selecting nurses to be sent out on a call was by rotation. That has been discarded in favor of a method whereby nurses are picked for particular cases because of their special talents or preferences.

* * *

Hospitals calling for nurses will outline the case and tell what type nurse is needed. Usually several nurses are called at one time by hospitals. Some nurses are especially suited for mental cases; others won't take contagious cases, possibly because they have a family. Others won't accept baby cases.

* * *

The nervous patient, who is so grouchy and touchy that he drives everyone else mad, requires a placid nurse whose disposition can't be ruffled. This is the type who does her work—and pays not the slightest attention to the whims and demands of the patient.

* * *

Some patients in hospitals demand nurses according to certain standards—such as young, tall blonde. One patient completely upset the bureau office one day by asking for a middle-aged nurse. The hospital has to satisfy their wishes, and the hospital attache must arrange with the nursing service to fill the bill.

* * *

However, the number of patients having decided preferences in nurses is small. Most of them are too sick to care—they want someone who knows her business.

* * *

If you are sick, but not under care of a physician, don't expect to call the nurses' service and get any results. No nurse will be sent unless a physician's okey is received—they take no chances on phoney calls.

The work with the county health department is important. Nurses for the department sometimes have to be located in a hurry at night or week-ends. Contagious cases, for example, can't wait from Saturday noon to Monday morning for treatment.

* * *

The health department has an alternate phone number, which is the number of the nurses' bureau. An important part of the bureau's health department work is locating nurses for the department's home maternity service.

OWNER, SON SLIGHTLY HURT IN ACCIDENT

NEWPORT BEACH. — Damage estimated at $1000 was caused when the 40-foot Diesel-powered fishing boat, "Blue Sea," went aground a mile and a half south of the harbor mouth at 3 a. m. today.

The boat, which lost its course in a heavy fog, struck the beach, and rocks punched a large hole in the side of the vessel.

Two and a half tons of mackerel, valued at $50, were being returned to Newport Beach, and numerous fish scattered along the beach following the impact.

The owner of the boat, George Phelps of Newport, and his son Robert escaped with cuts and bruises. Donald Young of Newport, also in the fishing party, was not injured.

The Smith Bros. tug, "Motorite," was called to the scene, and workers were awaiting the low tide late this afternoon to begin repairs on the vessel. A line was attached to the boat to prevent it receiving further pounding against the rocks.

Following repairs to the battered side, the boat will be floated again at high tide shortly after 11 p. m. today.

YACHT CLUB WILL ELECT

NEWPORT BEACH. — Election of officers and directors for the coming year for the Newport Harbor Yacht club will be held Saturday, Dec. 3 at the clubhouse, Secretary Leon S. Heseman announced today.

Reports of the nominating committee reveal that the following will be voted up: E. D. Doris, commodore; George P. Converse, vice-commodore; C. F. Baxter, rear-commodore; Leon S. Heseman, secretary; Marion R. Gray and David Howard, director for one year term; Paul Fussell, Dr. Paul S. McKibben, A. L. Sonderegger, and A. N. Younglove for two year term.

Preceding the business meeting, members of the club will assemble at a good fellowship dinner.

According to Secretary Heseman, the club will hold a New Year's eve celebration at the club, Dec. 31.

BOAT RACES SET DEC. 11

NEWPORT BEACH.—The city council has granted a permit to the Southern California Outboard association and the Los Angeles Speedboat association to conduct races in the Lido Isle channel on Dec. 11.

Kent Hitchcock of Lido Isle represented the two groups before the city council, and promised strict regulation and patrolling of the course. The boats will take the water around 11:30 a. m., and will be off the course by 5 p. m.

Leading southland pilots will participate in the outboard speedboat regatta, Hitchcock said.

Heavy Christmas Shopping Foreseen

NEW YORK. (AP)—A busy Christmas shopping season, with a huge flow of dollars going into circulation over the nation's trade counters, was foreseen today by the National Retail Dry Goods association.

"Both business and the public may reasonably look forward to one of the best, if not the best, gift-giving seasons in almost a decade," said Lew Hahn, general manager of the association, which represents the department store and specialty shop field.

She's 'Turkey Day Queen'

Alice Beauchamp, (above) 19-year-old Fullerton Junior college sophomore registered from Bellflower, has been elected "Turkey Day Queen" for the traditional game between Fullerton and Santa Ana Junior colleges in the Fullerton stadium, Thursday. Miss Beauchamp won over the three opponents in a close election sponsored by the Weekly Torch, college newspaper. This first Thanksgiving day queen in the history of the college was crowned last night in elaborate coronation ceremonies in the school auditorium. The defeated candidates, Katherine Leuhm of La Habra, Clara Muffleman of Orange, and Catherine Kirker of Fullerton, were the attendants.

LIDO TIDELAND LEASE PLAN TO BE STUDIED

NEWPORT BEACH. — Public hearing will be conducted by the city council Dec. 5 on a proposed lease agreement between the city and the Lido Isle Community association.

The Lido Isle association has made application for a lease of all tidelands, submerged lands and overflow lands around Lido isle. The association would pay the city $750 a year for the lease privilege, and would agree to maintain all piers and floats now in place on the lands.

The association has submitted a lease agreement along with a petition and a check for the first year's fee.

Councilman George Gordon, believing the lease too important to enter into for 25 years without a public hearing, and Councilman Dick Whitson motioned for the Dec. 5 hearing.

CAR HITS MULE IN DENSE FOG

A mule pinned beneath an automobile on Coast highway east of Corona Del Mar early today was shot to death after efforts to extricate the animal failed.

The mule was struck by an automobile driven by Joseph L. Darnell, 36, Laguna Beach, in a dense fog at 7:28 a. m. one-half mile east of Corona Del Mar, California Highway patrolmen reported.

After frantic but futile efforts to lift the car off the animal, the mule was shot by B. F. Nimmo, Irvine ranch foreman. The automobile was damaged, and was removed to a garage for repair.

Officers reported the mule was struck as it was being lead across the highway behind a wagon. Witnesses blamed a heavy fog.

Downey Says He Spent Only $1000

REDWOOD CITY. (AP)—Sheridan Downey, Democratic senator-elect, filed an affidavit with the county clerk today showing an expenditure of exactly $1000 and receipts of the same amount, in connection with his campaign in the general election.

The $1000, the affidavit showed, went for radio time. The $1000 received came from the Sheridan Downey senatorial campaign committee.

SHRINE TO BE BUILT IN H. B. FOR YULETIME

HUNTINGTON BEACH. — The most elaborate Christmas shrine in the city's history is being planned here by the merchants' division of the chamber of commerce.

The shrine will be centered in the Orange County Coast association's annual competition among coast cities. It will be built on the roof of the Huntington Beach plunge adjacent to the Coast highway at the foot of Fifth street. The slanting roof will be decorated as a mountain with a 100-ft. base. Over the crest will ride a huge sled carrying Santa Claus and drawn by reindeer. At the foot, will be a manger with three wise men gathered about it. The entire structure will be floodlighted.

It is also planned to decorate lamp poles with 10-ft. illuminated trees for two blocks on Ocean avenue and for blocks on Main street. A 30-ft. tree will be set up under the arch at Main street and Ocean avenue.

Mayor M. M. McCallen will officiate at lighting ceremonies Dec. 10.

AMERICANS IN SPANISH JAILS

WASHINGTON. (AP)—House investigators received testimony today that Communists were holding Americans in jail in loyalist Spain.

Sam Baron of New York, testifying before the Dies committee investigating un-American activities, said the only way to get them out was through publicity.

"If there is enough publicity we will be in a position to remedy the situation," he said.

Baron said he himself had been arrested and held in a dungeon in Spain.

Three Kings at Queen's Funeral

LONDON. (AP)—Three kings with other royalty attended funeral rites for the English born queen Maud of Norway today before the body was placed aboard a purple and black draped train to begin the journey to Oslo.

The queen's husband, King Haakon; their son, Prince Olaf; King George VI of Britain and King George of Greece attended the simple ceremony.

PETITIONERS ASK ZONING OF H. B. DISTRICTS

HUNTINGTON BEACH.—Petitions for zoning went into circulation here yesterday, with Chairman H. F. Rampton of the chamber of commerce committee naming petition circulators for the 13 blocks of property included in the first district to be zoned.

Mrs. T. M. Frampton will circulate the petitions in block 706. Mrs. J. M. Heaston will be in charge of block 710 and Mrs. Clarence Orton, 705. The chamber committee will handle blocks 711, 712, 811, 812, 813 and the city-owned block of 909. Other circulators will be C. J. Porter, 713; Al Greer, 805; H. M. Hepburn, 810, and Mrs. A. A. Craig, 910.

All petitions must be returned to the chamber of commerce by Nov. 28, Rampton said. The committee will proceed with zoning action as soon as more than 50 per cent of signatures of property owners is secured.

Out-of-town property owners will be contacted by mail by William Gallienne, chamber secretary.

GIRL SCOUTS ENTERTAIN

COSTA MESA. — Costa Mesa Girl Scouts entertained their mothers Monday afternoon at a program given in the kindergarten room of the Main school.

Program opened with salute to the flag and singing of "America," after which the Girls' Glee club, under direction of Miss Jane Deming, music instructor in the grammar school, sang several selections. At the close of the musical program, Miss Wilcox, director of Girl Scouts in Anaheim, gave a short talk on "The Organization of Girl Scouts." Punch and cookies were served.

Scout leaders present were Mrs. William Crow, Mrs. Frank Yorker, Mrs. Harold Long, Miss Muriel Hendershot, Miss Rose Merryweather and Miss Jane Deming. Mothers present were Mesdames Henry Abrams, Alice Gilbert, Ray Thomas, C. W. Fernands, Mary Rogers, Gertrude Micklewait, H. Buckland, W. F. Coleman and J. C. Conrad.

HULL TO TALK AT LA HABRA

LA HABRA. — R. W. Hull, president of the Orange County Farm bureau, will be principal speaker next Monday at the regular meeting of the La Habra Farm center to be held at the home of Walter R. Beck.

Hull will speak on citrus problems and measures taken at the state convention of the farm bureau. Frank C. Latham, second vice president of the farm bureau, will cover developments in tax and legislative lines.

The meeting will begin at 6:30 p. m. with a potluck dinner. President Watler Beck will preside.

L. A. County May Slash Salaries

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—The county board of supervisors had before it today resolutions to slash salaries of county officers.

Supervisor John Anson Ford proposed reductions in salaries of the sheriff, district attorney and assessor from $10,000 to $9,000 a year. The board last may fixed their salaries at $12,000, those of the sheriff and the assessor to become effective Dec. 5, next, and that of the district attorney in 1940, when a new term begins.

POULTRY BILLS WILL BE UP TO LEGISLATURE

Legislation raising standards of poultry meats in California will be presented to the next session of the state legislature, according to a report last night to Orange county poultrymen.

More than 35 gathered at the farm bureau hall for the regular meeting of the poultry department.

A. H. Heinemann who represented the farm bureau at the poultry meetings at the recent state convention told of the attempt which will be made to introduce legislation raising the requirements for turkey meat as well as other poultry meats.

Present standards in California, he reported, are considered unsatisfactory.

Heinemann also reviewed late findings on poultry problems as reported to the state convention.

Secretary C. J. Marks of the farm bureau reported on some of the sidelights of the convention. Ross E. Crane, assistant farm advisor, spoke on chick production in the United States, reporting that the production during October was the greatest in years.

A. G. Morris of the Barr Lumber company, discussed insulation of brooders to reduce electricity consumption. Frank E. Jones, chairman of the poultry department, presided over the meeting.

NEW C. M. UNIT MEETS MONDAY

COSTA MESA. — The Costa Mesa chamber of commerce will meet next Monday night in Greener's hall. Report of the nomination committee will be filed at that time and directors for the new Improvement association elected.

Directors, in turn, will elect officers of the organization. Provisional plan of the association will again be submitted for any minor changes thought necessary.

More than 100 charter members have already been signed.

GARDEN GROVE. — Planning programs for the next three months and a Christmas party on December 19 at the home of Miss Onetia Ames, members of the Young Women's Foreign Missionary society met Monday evening at the home of Miss Phyllis Shreeves. There will be a gift exchange and each member will bring a guest.

Miss Ferne Schnitger and Miss Phyllis Shreeves were appointed as a committee to arrange for sending Christmas gifts to the Mexican mission at Westminster. The business meeting was in charge of Mrs. Evelyn Dozier, and the devotional service conducted by Mrs. Luora Schnitger.

Guests of the evening were Mrs. Hazel Ayer, Mrs. Onalee Ayer and Miss Hazel Johnson of the Bellmont Shore Heights church. They told of work in their society and extended an invitation to the group to meet with them on January 4.

A Thanksgiving motif was used in decoration and refreshments served on individual trays to the following members: Mrs. J. L. Mitchell, advisor; Mrs. Luora Schnitger, Mrs. Evelyn Dozier, Mrs. Joy Crane and the Misses Onetia Ames, Juanita Dungan, Beatrice and Mary Dolf, Marjorie Heusted and Ferne Schnitger.

ESCAPE TO HOLLYWOOD

by KATHRYN CULVER

Linda Bailey's father has been considered Centerville's wealthiest citizen but, when he dies, she learns he has left her practically nothing. Wishing to hide this from the townsfolk, she decides to go away—to Hollywood to have a try at the movies. She plans to stay with an aunt, Mrs. Nora Payson, in Los Angeles. Over the protests of Fred Lancaster, who has expected her to marry him, she sets out in her car. On the way bandits rob her and leave her stranded, but a good-looking young man, who introduces himself only as "Martin" and who is also on the way to Los Angeles, comes to her aid. Arriving in Los Angeles, she goes to her aunt's address, a high-class apartment hotel, only to learn that her aunt is also in straitened circumstances, and is merely an employee of the hotel, and lives in one little room.

CHAPTER XII

ON THE morning after Linda's arrival in Los Angeles, a sharp-faced man, with greedy eyes and not a great deal of chin, sat behind his desk in a dingy office in Hollywood. The man, Oscar Trick, was the self-appointed "Director" of what he chose to call a dramatic school, though the so-called "school" had little bona-fide right to such a name.

He was reading a newspaper clipping that had arrived in the morning mail from a clipping bureau which had a standing order to supply him with any items relating to screen aspirants on their way to Hollywood. This particular clipping had been taken from the issue of the Centerville Gazette published on the day that Linda had departed from Centerville. It read:

LOCAL HEIRESS SEEKS FILM CAREER

Miss Linda Bailey, popular young daughter and sole heir of the late Henry Bailey of this city, departed suddenly for Hollywood this morning. According to her close friends, she intends to seek a career in the movies.

Miss Bailey's father died only a few weeks ago, and is believed to have left her a sizable fortune. Her decision to storm the film capital comes as no surprise to her intimates. She has taken part in many amateur theatrical productions in Centerville, and her dramatic ability is well known.

She left so suddenly that there was no opportunity to interview her before her departure but, according to her lawyer, Mr. Paul Debler, she will make her home in Los Angeles with an aunt, Mrs. Nora Payson, who resides at the exclusive Granada Arms Apartments.

OSCAR TRICK tossed the clipping to his chief assistant, a ruddy-faced young man named Jeffery Garms.

"This looks like a hot tip. Rich young gal from the sticks. Her old man just left her a pile of dough. We ought to be able to shake her loose from a wad of it."

The assistant read the clipping with approval.

"The Granada Arms is a swell dump," he remarked. "She must have plenty of what it takes if she's going to hang out there."

"Okay — go to it," said Trick. "Lay it on thick, even if she's nomely as a mud fence. Tell her Greta Garbo hasn't got anything she hasn't got. See if you can hook her for our special five-hundred-buck course. We need a slice of Old Man Bailey's do-re-mi — and need it bad!"

"Trust me," said the ruddy-faced young man. "But you better get a haircut before I bring her here and introduce you as the greatest living dramatic teacher. We can't afford to make a bad impression."

"I'll let my hair grow and change my name to Ivan Petrovitch," growled Trick. "I can't afford haircuts with you taking money all the time for taxi fare. Why don't you take a street car once in a while—or walk?"

"Well, gimme a nickel now," said Jeffery Garms, "and I'll go down to the drug store and phone the Granada Arms — see if she's hit town yet."

Trick reluctantly parted with the nickel, and Garms left the office and went clattering down the one flight of stairs to the street.

A few minutes later, he was in a phone booth and had the Granada Arms switchboard operator on the wire.

"Sorry," she told him, "but there is no Linda Bailey registered here."

"Well, look," he said. "Her aunt lives there—a Mrs. Nora Payson. Perhaps the niece is staying with her aunt, and you haven't yet been told."

"Oh . . . Mrs. Payson," said the operator, her tone changing. "Why didn't you say so in the first place? Maybe there is somebody with her. Wait a minute."

LINDA was alone in her aunt's room, busily unpacking, when the phone rang. She answered it.

"This is the switchboard operator," she was told. "Is there a Miss Linda Bailey staying up there with Mrs. Payson?"

"Why, yes," said Linda. "I . . . this is Miss Bailey."

"One moment." There was a click. Then: "Here's your party. Go ahead."

Linda's heart skipped a beat. It must be Martin, she thought. He was the only person in Los Angeles who knew her. She was so sure it was he that, when a man's voice said, "Miss Bailey?" she answered gaily.

"Hello, Martin! How are you this morning?"

There was an instant of silence at the other end of the wire.

Then, the voice said, "I'm afraid you've made a mistake. You see, my name is Jeffery, not Martin."

"Oh . . ." Linda was dashed.

"Jeffery Garms," the voice continued cheerily. "I represent a movie school. Allow me to welcome you to Hollywood, Miss Bailey, and to be the first to wish you success."

"Why, thank you. But I . . . but how did you know I was here?"

"Miss Bailey, you may not realize it, but when any one like you arrives in Hollywood, it doesn't go unnoticed. Hollywood has talent scouts on the watch all the time. But you mustn't run the risk of falling into the wrong hands and having your career blasted before it's fairly begun. No, sirree!

"You need the right sort of sponsors, Miss Bailey, to get anywhere in Hollywood. There are those who'll promise you the moon for a few hundred dollars, but our school isn't like that, Miss Bailey. We are sincerely interested in the development of movie talent for the sake of art alone, and it makes no difference to us whether you are an heiress or a penniless waif who has hitch-hiked into town."

"I'm afraid I'm not interested," Linda told him, when he stopped for breath. "You see, I haven't—"

"All I ask at the moment is a few minutes of your time," Jeffery Garms cut in briskly. "May I drop by the Granada Arms in about an hour, and have a little chat with you? Then, if you would care to, and if I should perceive in you the latent possibilities which we demand before we undertake to train and sponsor any one, I shall be delighted to arrange an interview between you and our distinguished director."

Linda weakly agreed to meet him in the lobby in an hour, then hung up with her head in a whirl.

Events Section Is Hostessed

Mrs. Robert Jeffrey, Mrs. Hazel Maag and Mrs. Roy Langley hostessed Current Events section of Ebell, when it met at the clubhouse for a luncheon, yesterday.

Tables, suggestive of Thanksgiving in their decorations, were arranged for 23 members and guests, with Miss Betty Smith, Mrs. Louis Vorhis, Mrs. Thomas Crocker and Mrs. Clyde Jenkins invited to attend the meeting.

Following a short business session, when it was decided that the annual Christmas party, given by the group, will be held Wednesday, December 21, instead of the regular Tuesday meeting, Arthur Blanding gave an interesting talk.

Contract completed the afternoon hours with Mrs. George Veeh and Miss Louise Tubbs scoring winning tallies. Those present yesterday were the Mesdames Charles Cogan, R. B. Crenshaw, Harvey Bennett, Harvey Gardner, E. H. Guthier, Walter Hiskley, Robert Jeffrey, S. B. Kauffman, William H. Maag, Hazel Maag, E. L. McKamy, Nat Neff, George Osterman, Frank Sawyer, Hugh Shields, Harvey M. Spears, George Veeh, and Miss Louise Tubbs.

Hostesses for the December meeting will be Mrs. Kauffman, Mrs. Frank Sawyer and Mrs. David Howell in the Kauffman home.

ORGANIZATION IS HOSTESSED

Hostess at a dinner for the past presidents of the Calumpit auxiliary, Mrs. Bertha Helmer received guests in her home at 1061 West Third street, Monday evening. The group also chose this time to celebrate the birthday anniversary of Mrs. Katherine Reagan.

Pinochle and bridge occupied the evening hours, with Mrs. Bertha Dickson and Mrs. Edna Hannah winning high scores in the former, and Mrs. Elizabeth Moverly and Mrs. Eleanor Shaw scoring successfully in the latter game.

Mrs. Reagan was presented with many lovely gifts at the close of the evening, and the date of the next session was announced as Dec. 19, in the home of Mrs. Nannie Reed, which affair will be the annual Christmas party. Enjoying the affair were the Mesdames Edna Hannah, Jean Tantlinger, Bertha Dickson, Elizabeth Moverly, Katherine Reagan, Elva Hunt, Celia Cook, Emma King Peterman, Nannie Reed, Eleanor Shaw, Estelle Dresser and the hostess.

OCTOGENARIAN IS FETED

Mrs. E. H. Crofost of 695 Batavia street, Orange, assisted her father, J. F. Lamp, in receiving as guests members of the Men's Fellowship class of the First Methodist church in Santa Ana.

J. H. Johnson, speaking informally, told of his five months' trip abroad, telling the unique experience of visiting Lapland, where he had 24 hours of sunlight per day. Mr. and Mrs. Dean Krebs, son-in-law and daughter of Mrs. Crofost, entertained with musical selections, before the real surprise of the afternoon was made known, that it was the 81st anniversary of Mrs. Lamp, who was given a gift from the associates in the class.

Later, refreshments were served by the hostess to the Rev. W. H. White of Laguna Beach, P. A. Robinson of Orange, and P. L. Briney, C. A. Halloway, E. W. Smith, J. H. Johnson, Dr. J. J. Drake, Leo V. Myers, James A. Burrell, J. H. Edwards, B. A. Knudson, C. E. Coy and George Aisbach, all of Santa Ana.

Past Masters Honored By Silver Cord

One of the most elaborate lodge functions of the year was the banquet at which Silver Cord lodge members honored their past masters last night, with more than 250 members present at the affair in the Masonic temple.

Formal attire added to the festiveness of the party, at which honored past masters were Asa Hoffman, Ward H. Sutton, William Iverson, Ralph Graves, Orson Hunter, Owen Murray, Carl Edgar, Robert Birkhead, Charles McCausland, Don Edwards, Olin Turner, Harley Smith and Frank Arnim. Carlyle Dennis, present master, presided.

Elaborate Thanksgiving decorations adorned the long dinner tables, and were arranged by the evening's committee, consisting of the Messrs. and Mesdames Harry LeBard, William Graves, James Gill, William Hellis, Ernest Henry, Harold Irwin, Albert Jones, Glenn Lycan, Ralph Mitchell, Harry Roberts, Paul Roberts, and Fred Jacobs.

Ray Taylor, program chairman, introduced 17 members of the Blu-Note accordion band, who performed before the group separated, with the men going to the lodge room, and the ladies to the card room, where Mrs. Asa Hoffman was in charge of the 19 tables of bridge in play.

Serving on the evening's reception committee were the Messrs. and Mesdames Carlyle Dennis, John Turton, A. R. Montgomery, J. F. Jacoby, Olin Turner, Herbert Alleman, John J. Vernon, and F. P. Nickey, jr.

MRS. BRAKEBILL ENTERTAINS AT BRIDGE

Unusually pretty flowers were about Mrs. Claude Brakebill's North Ross street home yesterday afternoon when she was hostess to two tables of bridge. Clear yellow chrysanthemums predominated in the several arrangements, with one lovely bowl of peach and yellow snapdragons.

Bridge followed a salad course, and high score awards were won by Mrs. Robert A. Miller and Mrs. Harold Dale.

In the absence of Mrs. George Walker and Mrs. Ray Tarr, Mrs. Burt Zaiser and Mrs. G. Stanley Norton were guest substitutes, while others present were Mrs. Dale, Mrs. Miller, Mrs. Albert Harvey, Mrs. Alvin Stauffer and Mrs. Robert Guild.

SURPRISE PARTY IS START OF NEW CLUB

Mrs. Fern Arp of Midway City inspired a pleasant little party one day recently when a group of friends gathered to surprise her at her home on the occasion of her anniversary. An attractive gift was presented to her, and an enjoyable afternoon was spent.

An organization meeting was held after the luncheon which the guests had brought, and it was decided to band together as the Friendship club.

Members, with Mrs. Arp, are Mrs. La Vern Bragg, Mrs. Ella Groujohn, Mrs. Florence Graham, Mrs. Bessie Kearns, Mrs. Hazel Voss Mrs. May Bannister, Mrs. Edith Bannister and son, Dickie, Mrs. Belle Tinsley and Mrs. Anna Jacobs.

Foresters estimate that southern New England lost about half its trees in the recent hurricane.

Matrons Will Boost County At S. F. Fair

Women of Orange county were this week given opportunity to participate in the Golden Gate 1939 International Exposition, opening February 18, on Treasure Island, in San Francisco bay, and several prominent Santa Anans were named to take an active part.

Mrs. Alfred McLaughlin, appointed by Gov. Frank F. Merriam, as one of the women's board of nine members to direct the activities of women in the 1939 exposition, has been named chairman of county organization throughout California, and on Monday invited a group of women leaders and heads of various Orange county women's organizations to meet with her for luncheon at Daniger's Tea room in Santa Ana.

Mrs. McLaughlin explained the need of the county group as a link between the exposition and the citizens of the various counties to stimulate interest in participating in the coming exposition. The organization of Orange county, effected Monday, completes a woman's organization in every county in the state.

Mrs. Albert Launer of Fullerton, vice president-at-large of the California Federation of Women's Clubs, was elected chairman of the Orange county committee, and she will be assisted by Mrs. Felton Browning of Tustin, county president of the League of Women Voters; Mrs. Richard G. Miller of Huntington Beach and Mrs. Fred Rowland of Santa Ana, president and vice president of the Orange County Federation of Women's Clubs; Mrs. J. Arthur Miller of Fullerton and Mrs. Cotton Mather of Santa Ana, representing the D. A. R.; Mrs. Mary L. Campbell of Fullerton, president of the Orange County Business and Professional Women and of the Orange County Librarians club; Mrs. Rose E. Ford of Santa Ana and Mrs. Claude Russell of Fullerton, representing Native Daughters of the Golden West; Miss Mary W. Howard of Santa Ana, representing the Young Women's Christian Association; Mrs. Robert Korff of Tustin, president of the Orange County Parent-Teacher Association; Mrs. R. S. Sandon of Santa Ana, president of the Orange County Legion Auxiliary; Mrs. W. W. Finley of Santa Ana, representing the Orange County American Association of University Women; Mrs. Earl E. Smith of Anaheim and Mrs. Frank Rospaw of Placentia, who will handle publicity for the group.

Working with County Supt. of Schools Ray Adkinson, Mrs. Launer already has underway one of the chief projects of the group, an essay contest among the school children of the county. It is felt that the cultural aspects of the fair are going to be so fine that people from all over the world will be coming to see it, and realizing those coming to the exposition from any distance will visit Southern California, Orange county women are anxious that the county's hospitality be extended to the visitors, and that they see the many institutes and interesting points.

It is thought there will be particular interest in the Rancho Santa Ana gardens of Mrs. Susana Bixby Bryant, in the mission at San Juan Capistrano, the Bowers Museum at Santa Ana and the art gallery at Laguna Beach.

MANY TAKE PART IN EBELL RECITAL

An elaborate recital of pupils of the Visel-Haughton studios was held as an evening affair at the Ebell clubhouse with nearly half a hundred children participating in the well-balanced program.

Colorful costumes and excellent auxiliary music added to the pleasure of dancing numbers coached by Miss Mary Morton and Miss Eleanor Putnam of the studio, while excellent technique and interpretation were evinced in those young people who offered piano, accordion, and recitative selections.

Instructors taking part included Carolyn Haughton, Holly Lash Visel, Lois Rees Auer, Mary Morton, Eleanor Putnam and Grace Groves, while new teachers introduced to the attentive audience included Madam Johnson, French; Julia Constance Layman, speech arts, and Kathryn Collins, voice.

Serving as ushers for the affair were the Misses Marjorie Metzger, Joanne Hockaday, Donna June Cocking, and Doris Lorraine Faupel, while hostesses for the social hour were Mrs. R. P. Meairs, Miss Margaret Van Meter and Mrs. V. B.Anderson.

Six other major recitals will be given during the season, it was announced. Children participating in this affair were Lynda Lee Robinette, Marjorie Ball, Barbara Danker, Moya King, Janice Sargent, Robin Ann Cross, Sherrill Anderson, Billie Dean Nave, Toni Bigelow, Richard Northup.

Jean Matson, Jack Northrup, Genevieve Straw, Virginia Hellis, Wilmalee Whisennan, Marilyn Humeston, Verna Echols, Nancy Mae St. Johns, Nina Kipf, Arlen Tracy, Jack Cash, Ivan Tournat, Jack Miles, Robert Greenwald, Margaret Whitson, Jimmie Marshall, Calvin Groves, Viola Gaston.

Audrey Harrell, Betty Jane Ward Virginia Adams Beeler, Alice McKee, Lorraine Pollard, Geraldine Shoen, Lorle Buell, Telstha Dahl, Carolyn Wells, Jane Doyle, Norma Baker, Claire Baker, Jean McCormac, Barbara McFadden, Wanda Goode, Joanne Hockaday, Janet, McFadden, Charlotte Shafer, Joan Matson, Carolyn Spicer, Mildred Gibson, Kay Stockton, Marilyn Klentz, Doris Lorraine Faupel, Wanda Hubbard, Ruth Nelson and Marjorie Metzgar.

Something designed to help the college girl balance her wardrobe budget is a sports suit combining a pleated skirt and cardigan sweater of naptha-cleansed wool dyed exactly the same shade. This one is a warm copper tone which offers harmonious contrast to the brown sweater worn under it.

P.-T.A. NEWS

Tustin Grammar School

One hundred and 25 parents turned out for the potluck supper which preceded Tustin Grammar School P.-T. A.'s regular meeting last Wednesday, and which was supervised by seventh grade mothers, including the Mesdames Merrill Thompson, Raymond Marsile, Burton Riley, Ives Brown, Earl Sharpless, and O. L. Jacobs.

Mrs. Orlo Householder presided over a business session later, with Miss Eileen McCullom giving the flag salute, and boys and girls of Mrs. Viola Newell's room presenting several songs. Mrs. Newell also led community singing.

Mrs. Harold Carson, membership chairman, reported an enrollment of 215, and Mrs. Merrill Thompson, as program chairman, introduced Dr. E. Lee Russell, speaker of the evening. Following his talk Mrs. Marshall Burke and Mrs. William Ulm presented a skit.

In the lower division, Mrs. Newell's room and Miss Mildred Morrow's room were first and second in attendance, while in the upper division, prizes were won by Miss Lindsey's and Miss Royce's rooms.

DISCUSS PLANS FOR BUSY WEEKS

Mrs. Geneva Welch entertained members of the American Legion auxiliary drill team one night recently, when she received the group in her home on West Eighteenth street.

During the business, meeting, plans for a dance to be held this Saturday evening, were completed. The affair will be in the Garden Grove Veterans' clubhouse and dancing will begin at 9:30. In charge of arrangements are Ruth Anderson, Sue Featherly, Inez Haiber and Ruth Ann Hardcastle. Plans for the group's annual Christmas party were made with the home of Emma Penn to be the scene of the event, Dec. 16.

Following the business meeting, games and refreshments completed the evening. Present were the Mesdames Frances Jones, Faye Minnix, Alice Dodder, Sue Featherly, Tom Sandon, Inez Haiber, Evelyn Imhoff, Gladys Liebermann, Ruth Anderson, Myrtle Swarthout, Emma Penn, Gladys Young, Ida Burnett, Edith Bouldin and the hostess.

V. F. W. WOMEN HAVE FULL DAY

Five prominent V. F. W. auxiliary members drove to Sawtelle hospital Tuesday on an expedition arranged by Mrs. John Davis, hospital chairman, taking with them cakes, cigarettes, candy, and magazines for the veterans.

Later they drove to the home of Mrs. Sue Lucas, a member, for a potluck super, and then went on to Patriotic hall, Los Angeles, to attend the mass Past President's night meeting there.

In the party were the Mesdames Ruth O'Mailia, Charles Hyatt, Fred Pope, James Sullivan, and Glenn Hendrickson. They were joined for the night affair by Fred Pope and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cann.

WILLARD

Fathers' night was observed by the Willard Parent-Teacher association at its November meeting Tuesday, in the school cafeteria. W. O. Mendenhall presided as chairman with Principal Lyle Mitchell as acting secretary for the rather ususual business meeting which proceded the program. The treasurer's report was submitted by E. T. McFadden. Norman Hicks led in the flag salute, followed by a verse of "America" with Lowell Schmid directing and Mrs. Sylvester at the piano.

Ben Schlegel, acting program chairman, presented an entertaining program which began with a lively community sing led by Mr. Schmid, with Miss Glancy at the piano. A short magazine skit, coached by Mrs. Smith, drama teacher, with Mrs. Rose Woodward, Mrs. Myrtle Stinson, Mrs. Edward Luhman and Jackie Munson as the cast. The Willard male quartet composed of Lowell Schmid, Herbert Michel, Arnold Lund and Robert Horn who sang three vocal numbers were twice encored. Lester Phillips, of the "Blu-Note" Music company and a comissioned officer of Phillip's Crusaders Boys military band, gave a delightful group of trumpet solos with Mrs. Esther Shields as piano accompanist. A debate on the topic, "Are Fathers Parents?" climaxed the evening's entertainment; speakers for the affirmative, Leon Lauderbach and Phillip Hood, and for the negative Mr. Mendenhall.

During the social hour, pumpkin pie topped with whipped cream was served with coffee by the Mesdames Harold Honer, Patrick Prizio, Robert Reynolds, Allan Crooks and Eugene Dickinson.

JOHN MUIR

In the absence of Mrs. Mark Dailey, Mrs. Daisy Scott filled the president's chair at John Muir P.-T. A.'s November meeting, which featured a program presented by Miss Blanche Hullsick's second and third grade children.

Two interesting demonstrations were given by them, one entitled "A Visit to Healthland," and the other "Verse Speaking Choir."

Following presentation of two TB films, the group voted cooperation in the Christmas seal drive. A social hour concluded the session, with second and third grade mothers as refreshment hostesses.

MRS. VORHIS GIVES CHARMING DINNER PARTY

A welcome relief from the much-used, albeit always lovely, autumn combinations of bronze and yellow was the clear red chosen by Mrs. Louis Vorhis to dominate her attractive dinner table when she entertained a pleasant little group at dinner and bridge.

Vivid hibiscus and galardias were set off by crimson tapers, and as an accent, the clever hostess used a colorful spray of loquot blossoms.

During the bridge play, Mrs. Vorhis played many charming piano selections for the pleasure of her guests, who included Mr. and Mrs. John Tessmann, Mr. and Mrs. James Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Viring, Miss Ethel Walker, and Dr. Kyle A. Lyon.

The average girl is more self-sufficient than the average boy, says one geneticist.

Wedding Rehearsal Is Tomorrow

Thanksgiving day promises to be a busy one for Miss Dorothy Jessee, for final preparations for her wedding in the evening will be under way.

The rehearsal party will meet at the First Presbyterian church tomorrow afternoon at four-thirty o'clock. Arriving in the Jessee home, 821 South Garnsey street, tomorrow morning, will be the groom, Clarence Hedrick, and his brother, Cecil Hedrick, both of Fresno. Also scheduled to arrive in the morning will be Miss Carolyn Wagner, who will be maid of honor for Miss Jessee. She is from Barstow.

Others in the bridal party will be Miss Leone Baxter of Santa Ana, Miss Louella Abell, and little Miss Marilou Hastings Abell, who will serve as flower girl. Assisting Mr. Hedrick will be Theodore Jessee and Joe Ray, with his brother as best man.

Anna May Archer, cellist, is to play incidental music, accompanied by Mrs. Harold Rhodes, organist, and Mrs. Trma B. Owens will sing the wedding music. Following the eight o'clock ceremony, a reception will be held for close friends in the Jessee home.

ENJOYABLE PARTY IS GIVEN CLASS

A most enjoyable Thanksgiving party was attended yesterday by members of the First Baptist church Fidelis class, when Mrs. Mabel Brown entertained them in the home of her daughter, Mrs. James F. B. Richards, 721 South Birch street.

Luncheon was served at small tables from a large one, lace-spread, with centerpiece of fruit and autumn leaves, flanked by yellow candles. Co-hostesses were Mrs. David Myers, and Mrs. R. W. Cole.

At a business meeting presided over by Mrs. Gertrude Lamb, it was decided to fill Thanksgiving baskets today. Mrs. J. R. Farwell led devotionals, and Mrs. O. S. Catland, teacher, led in prayer. She will have the group's Christmas party in her home.

Present at the pleasant affair were Miss Gracie Fredericks, and the Mesdames B. F. Dolbee, David Myers, George Mason, I. L. Marchant, Margaret Haven, A. M. Robinson, A. T. Davis, Grace McFarland, Lois Morgan, O. S. Catland.

The Mesdames Lily Lawrence, Grace McDonald, R. W. Cole, Mabel Brown, W. H. McMurphy, W. A. Ritner, H. A. DeWolfe, Frank Thomas, A. B. Parker, W. F. Davey, E. S. Newman, Jessie Hosea, Lula Metz, W. S. Hunsaker, J. R. Farwell, C. L. Joiner, Gertrude Lamb, R. L. Blanchar, George W. Jenkins, G. W. Spurrier, Leola Dietrich, and Roxie Crawford, with the hostesses.

D. U. V. PLAN TWO AFFAIRS THIS MONTH

Daughters and Sons of Union Veterans will hold a potluck supper Friday at 6:30 p. m. at M. W. A. hall, it was decided at a meeting of the Daughters yesterday afternoon. At that time Sons will have charge of the program, and the ladies will arrange the dinner, with a committee appointed consisting of Mrs. Jessie Overton, Mrs. Elizabeth Millen, Mrs. Kate Rinshed, and Mrs. Maude Wallace.

Another event on the social calendar will be a Thanksgiving social Nov. 30 at the home of Mrs. Nellie Parker.

At the business meeting presided over by Mrs. Alice Smith, it was reported that 14 bouquets had been delivered during the month, 46 visits had been paid, and 18 patriotic calls made.

EMISONS, MRS. SUMMERS AND JORDANS RETURN

Mr. and Mrs. Richard A. Emison and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Jordan returned to their homes last night after extended eastern trips. The Emisons went to Chicago by train, where they joined the Jordans, and both couples enjoyed a leisurely tour of the southern states before returning for Thanksgiving with their respective families.

Also returned to Santa Ana yesterday was Mrs. Emison's mother, Mrs. E. G. Summers, who has been visiting friends and relatives in the east and in the northern states, particularly Seattle, for several months. Mrs. Summers will have the Emisons and their daughter Beth, and Mona Summers Smith, another daughter, for dinner tomorrow.

FORMER LOCAL GIRL VISITS

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Haven of 822 South Van Ness street are enjoying a visit from the latter's cousin, Mrs. Gladys Turner.

The visitor, who is a niece of Ben Clapp of this city, too, formerly lived here, but has made her home in Cleveland for the past 15 years. She will go to San Francisco Sunday to live.

FIFTY-FIFTY PLANS DANCE IN JANUARY

Fifty-Fifty club members enjoyed their customary divided business meetings Monday evening, which always follow their monthly dances in order that the next affairs may be planned.

Mrs. James Tuma entertained the feminine contingency at her home in Whittier, while men gathered at the William Grafton home there. Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Burns, president of the two groups, presided for the first time since their installation as presidents.

The popular dancing club's next dance, it was decided, will be held Jan. 14 at the Jonathan club in Los Angeles.

Enjoying Mrs. Tuma's hospitality, which featured refreshments and bridge, were Miss Mildred Lewis, Miss Midge Norman and the Mesdames William Grafton, Ewald Lempke, Sam Kramer, Edward Farnsworth, Ralph Sampson, Heber Fowler, Buddy Forster, Riley Huber, Wayne Harrison, LeRoy Burns, Harl Crockett, Bus McCoy, Ralph Culp, Ray Hiniker, E. F. Bruning and Stanley Norton.

TWO BOYS HAVE JOINT BIRTHDAY FETE

Mrs. Ernest Byrne of Tustin complimented two of her young friends yesterday when she entertained at a double birthday party for Dick Korff, son of the Robert Korffs, and Ernest Blee Means, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Means.

Both lads were 12 years old, so a dozen friends were asked to the party which featured Chinese ceckers and football, climaxed by birthday cake with the appropriate number of candles, and ice cream. Many gifts were presented the boys, and the hostess' amusing decorations, of a funny-paper motif, were much enjoyed.

Mrs. Korff and Mrs. Means assisted Mrs. Byrne, and besides the two honor guests, boys present were Donald Marchant, Billie Collar, Dale Malcarney, David Linker, Frederick Boose, Tommie Wilson, Robert Hart, Leonard Handley, Jerry Phillips and Quinton Armstrong.

Honor Is Accorded Mothers

That thoughful courtesy, which members of the Sisterhood of Spinsters accord their mothers annually, was to take place today when the junior college group met in the Howard Timmons home on Red Hill road in Tustin, for tea.

Reception hours were from three until five o'clock, with various members in the receiving line during the afternoon. Miss Norma Daly was in charge of arrangements for the pretty affair, and assisting her were Miss Phyllis Kogler, who arranged a program, and Miss Maxine Wells, who took charge of refreshments. Miss Joyce Wentworth planned decorations which follow the colors of the organizations, green and white, and the hostesses greeted their guests in their formal attire.

Miss Kogler was asked to sing several numbers accompanied by Miss Enid Benton, who played during the afternoon. Miss Lorraine Sweet arranged several readings for the program hour.

Misses Audrey Sattler, Miss Bettie Timmons, Lorraine Black, Marion Adams, Betty Ann Munson, Peggy Paxton, Marian Adams, Elaine McReynolds and other members were among those serving during the tea hour.

SOCIAL SECTION MEETS FOR AFTERNOON

Meeting in the Veteran's hall yesterday, the Social Section of Woman's club was hostessed at a dessert bridge party with the Mesdames Charles Budd, A. G. Hughes, R. F. Dawson, Byron Quivey and W. N. Verner receiving.

Anagrams, auction and contract bridge occupied the afternoon hours with Mrs. J. G. Limbird, Mrs. L. R. Musick, and Mrs. W. B. Cohee scoring high in each of the games.

Mrs. Glenn F. Hulse, leader of the group, announced that there is to be no December meeting, and that the regular meeting of the Woman's club will not be held Tuesday.

MRS. PHILLIPS GIVES $26,000 IN HER WILL

Mrs. Mit Phillips, pioneer Santa Ana resident, who died Nov. 14, left cash bequests totaling more than $26,000 to cousins, other relatives, friends, colleges and a church, according to terms of a will filed for probate in superior court.

The First Baptist church of Santa Ana was bequeathed $2000, Whittier college $2000, and Earlham college in Richmond, Ind., $5000 "in memory of the first May Queen, Tennessee Tomlinson Phillips."

Kellar Watson, sr., Orange, son of a deceased uncle, was left $5000; Kellar Watson, jr., and Janet Watson, $500 each; Clyde Watson, another cousin, $3000 and each of his three children, Ralph, Mildred and Frank Watson, $100 each.

Estella Ellis of Plainfield, Ind., a cousin, will receive $2000; Alva Starbuck of Whittier, $500; Russell Jordan of Newport, $1000; and the following amounts will go to nephews and nieces of Mrs. Phillips' husband:

Minnie Phillips of Indianapolis, Gertie Krebs of Plainfield, Ind., Ethel Hornaday of Plainfield, Mrs. Will Wilkins of San Antonio, Texas, Mattie Spurgeon of Milwaukee, Cora Phillips Staten, Hamilton and Clyde Phillips, $500 each; children of Clara McGee, $100 each; daughter of Hattie Brewer, $50; Verl Wilhite, $100 and $10 to any other nephews and nieces.

Others left bequests include Bertha Hixon of Fullerton, Georgie Stanley of Fullerton and Etta Hansler of Los Angeles, who each are left $100.

The First National bank is named trustee in a $2000 trust for maintenance of the cemetery lot in Fairhaven cemetery where Mrs. Phillips was buried with her husband. Household furniture was left to Kellar Watson, sr., who was named executor in the will, dated April 10, 1933.

SLUM DRAMA COMING HERE

A melodrama of the slum districts, featuring a cast headed by James Cagney, Pat O'Brien, the "Dead End" Kids, Humphrey Bogart, Ann Sheridan and George Bancroft, opens tomorrow at the Broadway theater. It is "Angels With Dirty Faces."

It is the story of two boys, brought up together in the slums, whose lives become widely divergent when one is sent to a reform school for a prank in which both took part. He becomes a big-time gangster, his friend enters the friesthood. Their paths cross again when the gangster, part of the mob that runs the city, bucks the priest, who is heading a "clean-up" campaign, his object being to save the thousands of slum boys in his parish from lives of crime.

On the same program will be "Swing That Cheer," a story of college life and football, featuring a cast headed by Tom Brown, Andy Devine, Robert Wilcox and Constance Moore.

Tomorrow being Thanksgiving day and a holiday, the Broadway will present continuous shows, starting with the afternoon matinee.

HEATERS TO BE DEMONSTRATED

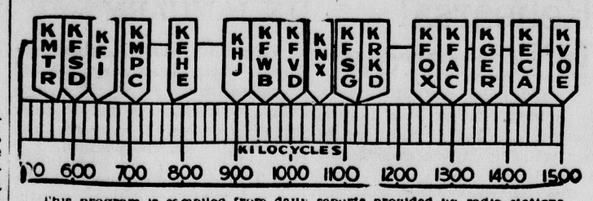

An evening field meeting to observe various types of orchard heaters operating under night temperature conditions will be held Dec. 1 at 7:30 p. m., Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg announced today.

Approved methods of handling and regulating heaters to give the best protection with the least smoke will be demonstrated by members of the extension staff. Heaters in actual use will be used for the demonstration, so that growers may see the results under actual field conditions.

Harold Rathbone of the U. S. weather bureau and W. R. Schoonover, University of California, will participate in the field meeting.

Every day in the United States, 200 people die of tuberculosis. Thirty-three of these are between the ages of 15 and 25. Christmas Seals help to save lives.

$40,983 ASKED FOR DAMAGES

Suit for $40,983.93 damages was on file today in superior court against three minors involved in an auto accident and the mother of one of them.

Plaintiffs in the case are Mrs. Freda E. Rogers, employe of the Norwalk State hospital, and her husband, Floyd.

Defendants are Mrs. Doris Gray, her son, Wayne, 20, Grace Sorensen and Margareta Carnes, both minors. The Rogerses claim the minors were responsible for an accident at Heim and Tustin avenues at 7 p. m., June 18 in which Mrs. Rogers was injured. She asks damages for medical attention, loss of earnings and other expenses incurred by herself and her husband resulting from the accident.

Flier Lives After Cutting 3 High Voltage Wires

ROSEBURG, Ore. (AP)—A second lieutenant at March Field, Cal., identified himself today as the pilot whose airplane spectacularly snipped a 120,000-volt transmission line near Glide six weeks ago and flew off undamaged.

The officer, Richard F. Lorenz of the 95th attack squadron, asked T. H. Ness, district manager of the California-Oregon Power company, in a letter for an accounting of the damage. Although he said he piloted the plane, he offered no other details.

The ship cut three heavy copper cables, each having a tensile strength of 5440 pounds.

JAY CLARKE TO GIVE MATINEE

Approaching the close of the third week in his successful personal appearance engagement in Santa Ana, Jay Clarke, mentalist, will give another special matiness for women only at the Braadway theater Friday afternoon, it was announced today.

The doors of the Broadway will open at 12:45 p. m. and Clarke will go on the stage at 1 p. m. His performance will last an hour and after that time women who attend may remain to see the regular motion picture program.

Clarke answers questions of every nature for members of the audience who write only their initials on slips of paper and leave them in the foyer of the theater.

Police News

The Golden Glow Beverage company reported to police today its warehouse was burglarized Saturay night, with 22 bottles of pop and 34 bottles of beer being stolen. Total loss was set by police at $4.41. Thieves entered through a broken window.

James Monahan, 49, of 610 East Fourth street, was arrested by Santa Ana police yesterday for assertedly begging in the street. He was booked at the county jail.

Theft of two bicycles from separate school grounds was reported to Santa Ana police yesterday. Delbert Carr, 810 West Cubbon street, reported his bicycle was stolen from the Santa Ana High school; Walde Anderson, 1233 South Ross street, reported his bike was stolen from the Spurgeon school grounds.

$10,000 ASKED FOR 3 TEETH

Asking $10,000 damages for three teeth assertedly knocked from her mouth during a tonsillectomy, 8-year-old Madeline A. Ferriel of Garden Grove filed suit in superior court against Dr. Arthur C. Robbins, Garden Grove physician.

Suing through her father, Austin W. Ferriel, the girl charges Dr. Robbins removed her tonsils Aug. 24, but in the process knocked out one "baby" tooth and two permanent ones, while she was under the anesthetic.

She demands $2000 damages for future dental and orthodontic care and $8000 general damages. Jack J. Rimel, Santa Ana attorney, filed the suit.

Turkey Put in Window Display

A real old-fashion Thanksgiving window display in the South window of the Coast Beverage Co., is sufficiently realistic to make any one who is a lover of good things to eat and drink, know that Turkey day is upon us once again.

Topped by a perfectly browned turkey with all the trimmings, together with the salad and other very necessary menu requisites the spread as shown is absolutely complete.

In addition to the foods shown, there are also distributed artistically, bottles of all that is needed for the Thanksgiving dinner. Rare old wines, light and dark; appetizing mixers, and drinks galore all demonstrating the wine variety of refreshments carried by this store and no matter what the desire of the diner, it may be satisfied by a visit to Abe Grannis' Coast Beverage Store at Third and Broadway.

STUDENTS TO PICK TRANSFER

Santa Ana Junior college students will be given a chance to select their own supplementary decalcomania transfer in the near future, Josephine Butler, one of the judges, announced today.

Entries in the contest were originally expected to be judged by Miss Frances Egge, head of the jaysee art department; Miss Butler and Carroll Richardson, editor of Del Ano, jaysee yearbook. Plans now call for display of samples of the Don stickers in college hall for approval of Associated Students.

Selection of the supplementary stickers will be made by voting through a ballot to be printed in El Don, the weekly newspaper, according to Editor Ed Velarde.

The new decalcomania transfer will not replace the familiar round, red and black seal, but will be used to augment it, officials declared. They will probably be available next semester after students have signified their choice Miss Butler revealed.

JURORS RUN SHORT ON CASH

The county grand jury, summoned specially in September to inquire into the "Fools Rush In" pamphlet case, may run out of money before long, the board of supervisors was told yesterday.

And if it runs out of money it can go ahead and spend more, with or without the county board's permission.

Dist. Atty. W. F. Menton appeared before the supervisors yesterday afternoon to request an additional appropriation of $4000 for the jury, now just entering its routine work.

Supervisors declined to make the allocation, but pointed out their lack of action would make no difference, since grand jury expenses are a legal charge against the county treasury and the county must pay the bill anyhow.

RED INK OR PRORATE, CITRUS CHOICE, WARNS C. C. TEAGUE

SOLUTION OF ISSUE WILL BE SOUGHT FRIDAY

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—C. C. Teague, president of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange, in a radio address last night declared that there are just two ways to control citrus shipments—red ink and prorate.

"Shall we enter on a period of destructive, survival-of-the-fittest competition among ourselves and with the other producing areas?" Teague asked. "If we do not have a prorate it means just that. Without a prorate shipments will go forward unregulated—in quantities larger than the market can absorb until red ink forces a halt. Then they will go again by fits and starts, with everybody in the industry losing money.

"Until the demand for our fruit can be made equal to the supply, there are just two ways to control shipments. One is red ink. The other is prorate."

Teague declared that the representatives of the Mutual Orange Distributors and the American Fruit Growers, with the consent of a certain other few in the industry, have succeeded in blocking a prorate for the past two weeks.

The exchange president in his address said that the exchange was for proration, but that the M. O. D. and others say it is useless to prorate unless all areas do the same.

"Texas has just started proration," he said. "They did not wait for Florida. Neither can we. We must get more for our fruit than they do. Last year, under the prorate, we got considerably more per pound for Sunkist fruit than Florida got, in the same markets at the same time."

The distribution committee and the growers' advisory committee will meet here Friday morning in an attempt to set a prorate for California and Arizona.

WALLACE BAND PLAYS SUNDAY

Orange county's "rhythm killers" and hot dancers will strut their stuff to the tunes of Wallaces' "licorice sticks, pipes and hides" Sunday night when they compete for the "Killer Diller" title of Orange county.

The competition, being staged by Charles Loch at the Orange County Athletic club in connection with the first Jitterbug Jamboree and Old Fiddlers' Contest ever staged in this county.

Loch said that Wallace's band will start "moanin' low" at 8 o'clock and all the "hep cats" and "rug cutters" are expected to be ready to "get in the groove" at that time.

Winners in the contests will be selected by popular applause from the "ickies" and "alligators" on the side lines.

Candid Camera Fans Checked

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP) — Chief of Police William J. Quinn notified company commanders today to rid the streets of roving candid cameramen who snap pictures of pedestrians and then hand out cards offering to sell "pictures of yourself in action."

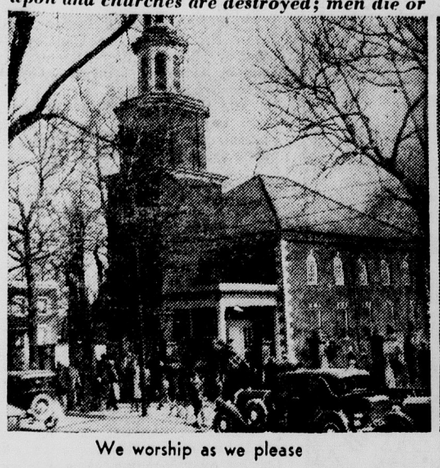

Americans Can Be Thankful

By The AP Feature Service

IN CASE you're wondering what to be thankful for on Thanksgiving, you might consider that:

In some countries today religion is frowned upon and churches are destroyed; men die or go to jail for expressing opinions; other men speak and write and a nation must listen and read; regulations hinder travel, and citizens have little voice in government.

But in America—

We worship as we please

We speak our minds freely . . .

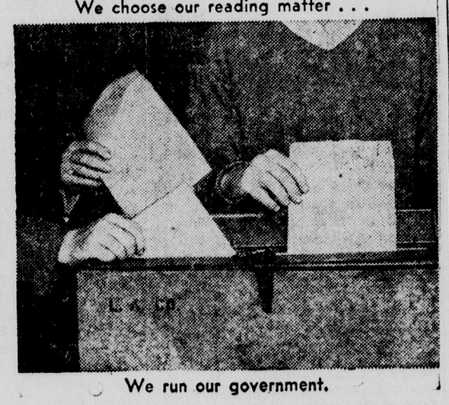

It takes only a ticket to travel . . .

We choose our reading matter . . .

We listen (if it's good) . . .

We run our government.

Inquest in Cycle Death Set Monday

Inquest into the traffic death of Lois Bartoll, 20, of 2402 North Flower street, will be conducted by a coroner's jury at McAulay and Suters funeral chapel in Fullerton Monday at 10 a. m.

The girl died at Orange county hospital early yesterday from a basal skull fracture, incurred when she was hurled from a motorcycle in a traffic smash-up in Orange Saturday night.

A. J. M'FADDEN CALLS ANNUAL MEETING OF STATE CHAMBER

A. J. McFadden of Santa Ana, president of the state chamber of commerce, today issued a call for the chamber's 13th annual meeting, to be held in San Francisco Dec. 1 and 2.

Agricultural and business leaders from all Southern California counties will take part in a conference on current problems bearing on the state's economic welfare.

One of the major subjects of discussion before the statewide agricultural committee on the first day will be the agricultural prorate act. An entire afternoon will be devoted to this problem, under direction of Dean C. Hutchison of the University of California.

Hutchison will present results of intensive research by his staff on the prorate problem.

A. J. Lundberg of Oakland, director of the state chamber, will discuss the freight rate situation and provisions of the railway labor act with its effect on railroad rates.

S. P. Frisselle of Kearney Park will lead a discussion on effectiveness of the service rendered to agriculture by, official employment agencies; and Prof. R. L. Adams will give a progress report on the farm labor statistics committee.

On Dec. 1 group meetings on industry, labor relations, taxation, highways and travel stimulation will be held. The following day will be devoted to an all-day open meeting of the state chamber's board of directors.

FIVE FINED IN TRAFFIC CASES

Five persons were fined and one lodged in county jail by Judge J. G. Mitchell yesterday after they pleaded guilty to traffic violations.

Pete Dominguez, 116½ South Clarence, was fined $8 for failure to appear on a traffic summons, but being unable to pay, he was sentenced to four days in jail.

Ray A. Dutton, 309 North Broadway, paid $5 for overtime parking citations, and Stanley R. Dozier, route 1, box 338, was fined $5 for failure to make a boulevard stop.

Overtime parking fines of $1 each were levied against Mrs. A. J. Hoppe, 501 East Pine street; D. Loptein, 902 Orange avenue, and John M. Johnson, 1030 West Fifth street.

TWO HURT AS AUTOS COLLIDE

Two persons received minor injuries last night in an automobile collision at Commonwealth and Grand streets four miles west of Fullerton, the California Highway patrol reported.

The accident involved cars driven by Matilda Savala, 18, of Atwood and James Inch, 38, of Whittier. Miss Savala, who suffered an injured right arm, was cited for failure to have an operator's license.

Also injured was Casimira Savala, 45, who received slight bruises. Both were treated at the Orange county hospital.

Jurors' Mileage Governed by Law

A change in the state law is the only possible solution for jurors, now complaining about being allowed mileage only once during trial of any one case.

With three trials now in progress in superior court, all of them having lasted more than one day, supervisors discussed the matter yesterday afternoon.

Orange County May Have to Pay Tax to Riverside, San Bernardino

BOARD SEEKS WAY OUT OF ODD SITUATION

Orange county property owners, who pay taxes to support the county government, may be paying taxes to Riverside and San Bernardino counties because their tax money has bought property in those counties—unless something is done to straighten the situation out.

That was the problem facing the board of supervisors today, as its special counsel began a study of the tax problem in connection with acquisition of land for Prado dam, now under construction in Santa Ana canyon.

Supervisors discussed the tax problem yesterday afternoon, and directed Flood Control Attys. B. Z. McKinney and Albert Launer and Engineer M. N. Thompson to report on the subject by Nov. 29.

Orange county's flood control district already has bought several thousand acres of land for the damsite and basin in the two upper counties. Whether or not the fact that U. S. army engineers are building the dam—possibly making it a federal project—was to be determined by the experts.

DOCTORS TELL OF ASSEMBLY

Reports on the International Medical Assembly of the interstate post graduate Medical association of North America held in Philadelphia Oct. 31 to Nov. 4 were presented to the monthly meeting of the staff of Santa Ana Valley hospital last night.

Those reporting were Dr. D. A. Harwood, Dr. G. Emmett Raitt, and Dr. John M. Bulpitt, all of whom attended the assembly.

Dr. Harwood reported on papers presented at the assembly dealing with hernia, sulfanilamide, and gall bladder. Dr. Raitt reported on use of artificial larynz, abdominal drainage, and growth as shown in papers presented by outstanding authorities. Dr. Bulpitt's report concerned acute coronary occlusion, water balance, and high blood pressure.

A large attendance was present at the meeting, which was presided over by Dr. Raitt, chief of staff.

City Woodpile 'Striker' Must Serve 12½ Days

For assertedly going on "strike" at the city woodpile and assaulting the foreman, Frank G. Chavez, 1233 Second street, began a 12½ day sentence at the county jail today.

He was sentenced by Judge J. G. Mitchell in city court yesterday, following his arrest by Santa Ana police on assault charges.

Police said Chavez was given a work order from the city court to work out a small fine. Chavez assertedly refused to work and when ordered from city court to leave, threatened Minter with a rock.

Club Told About Social Diseases

Description of venereal diseases formed the basis for the talk given by Dr. Arthur Wade at last night's regular meeting of the Santa Ana 20-30 club, held in Daniger's cafe.

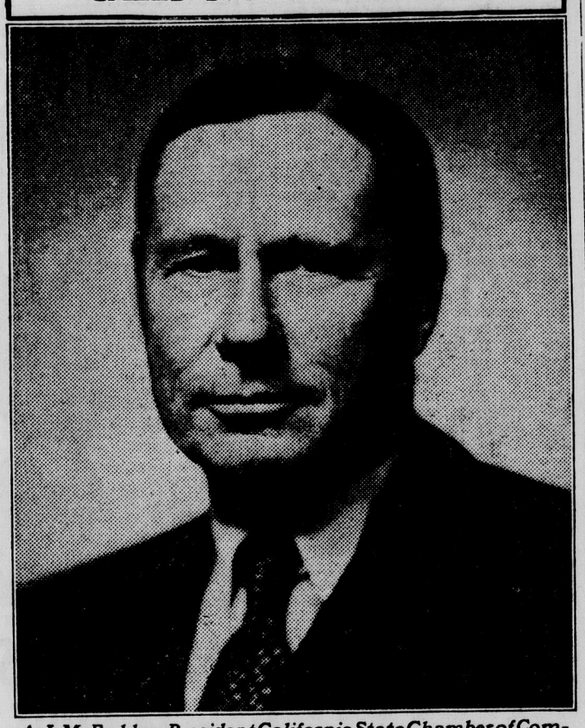

Dr. Wade confined his speech to describing early stages of venereal diseases and their effects on humans. He said that there has been a decrease in seriousness of these diseases because of the advance in medical treatment being made.

President Wylie Carlyle presided, while Fred Johnston acted as program chairman.

5 MEMBERS 4-H CLUBS WIN PRIZES IN L. A.

Five members of Orange county 4-H clubs were awarded prizes at the Great Western Livestock show which is being held at the Los Angeles Stockyards this week, Assistant Farm Advisor Ross E. Crane reported today.

Dale Heil of Midway City was awarded first prize of $20 on his 1200-pound shorthorn steer, and a third prize on showmanship. His steer was bought from the Santa Margarita ranch a year ago, and was awarded a second place at the Los Angeles county fair in September.

Other Orange county winners in the fat cattle division were Clair Wakeham and his brother, Dahl, of Garden Grove. Clair was awarded third place for his baby beef hereford steer and Dahl won a fourth place for his hereford steer. Both boys are members of the Magnolia boys' 4-H club.

In the fat hog division, Gerald and William Ulm of Tustin shared honors. Gerald was awarded second place for his pen of three fat grade Hampshire pigs and seventh and ninth for individual fat pigs. William Ulm received second place for best individual fat Hampshire and sixth in showmanship. Both youths are members of the Tustin Blue and Gold 4-H club.

Judge of the beef cattle was Professor H. J. Gramlich of the University of Nebraska. Paul McBride of the Cudahy Packing company and Professor E. W. Hughes of the University of California judged the hogs.

DON-FULLERTON 'BIG GAME' RATED TOSS-UP

SPORTS Copy Wrighted

ODDS and ENDS By PAUL WRIGHT

RENEW HEATED RIVALRY IN FULLERTON STADIUM

Memories of three other Santa Ana - Fullerton classics are revived, as the Dons and Yellowjackets await their Thanksgiving day football clash in the Fullerton stadium at 2 p. m. tomorrow.

The "big game" between Orange county's two junior colleges will be a howling success if it produces the thrills of their games of 1929, 1932 or '33. There were other spirited tussles, but these three stand out in this department's memory.

* * *

From a Santa Ana standpoint, the 1929 classic provided the biggest thrill. The score was 19-13 in favor of our Dons, who won the game AFTER the gun had sounded. They trailed at the half, 13-0, but came back with a rush to pick up the 13 points, and then march to the Fullerton goal as the timekeeper's finger began to itch. Only seconds remained. The ball was snapped from center just as the gun went off. Wayne Garlock, quarterback, took a couple of steps backward and then tossed a short pass over the goal into the arms of Jack Sweetnam for the precious six points. What a game! It meant the Southern California championship for our Dons, who would have relinquished the crown to Compton if the Fullerton game had ended in defeat or even a tie.

* * *

The 1932 game, played at Fullerton, was just the opposite from the 1929 thriller . . . The Dons took an early lead, 13-7, but Fullerton unleased a baffling aerial attack and went over for a second touchdown late in the game. On the conversion, the Yellowjackets faked a place kick, and their quarterback passed a low one over the goal into the arms of an end, and Fullerton won, 14-13. It was a dramatic ending.

* * *

In 1933, before a capacity crowd at the Municipal bowl, Santa Ana needed a victory over Fullerton to capture the Eastern conference title . . . The pesky Yellowjackets, hopelessly out of the running, nevertheless put up an inspired fight, and took the lead with a field goal, 3-0 . . . Santa Ana frantically tried to score, but could not make any advance . . . Only three minutes remained in the final quarter . . . Harold Welty, fullback, faded back to mid-field and uncorked a long pass to Walt Gunther, end, who was off-balance on Fullerton's 12-yard line, but managed to catch the ball and by a streak of luck evaded the Fullerton safety for a touchdown . . . Santa Ana won the game, 6-3, which brought the Dons the Eastern conference title . . . They went on to eliminate Los Angeles of the Western conference, 7 to 6, for the Southern California championship, with Welty again in the starring role.

If the Santa Ana - Fullerton game duplicates in thrills any of those three performances, the large holiday crowd undoubtedly will turn away satisfied.

POMONA'S PREP STAR ELIGIBLE

POMONA. — Harry Karns, Pomona High school's all-Southern California halfback, will be eligible to compete for the Citrus Belt league champion against Covina today in the first round of the high school football results.

Rumors of Karns' ineligibility were attacked yesterday by Principal J. E. Walker.

Trojans Favored Over U.C.L.A. Tomorrow

LOS ANGELES RIVALS MIX IN COLISEUM

LOS ANGELES. — Winding up their Pacific coast conference schedule against their traditional cross-town rivals in a game that may decide the West's representative in the Pasadena Rose bowl Jan. 2, the Trojans of Southern California will be very nearly at full strength when they meet the Bruins of U. C. L. A. tomorrow at 1:30 p. m. in the Coliseum here.

The Trojans have been quoted 11-5 favorites.

Except for Bob Hoffman, star blocking back and defensive ace who may be on the sidelines with an injured knee, the Trojans expect to have several boys who missed the last game with Washington returning to the fold. Right Tackle Ray George, Left Guard Floyd Phillips, Quarterback Mickey Anderson and Fullback Bob Peoples, were all back in uniform today when Troy staged its final light workout.

A Southern California victory over the Bruins would leave the Trojans and California's Bears tied for the conference leadership, and the choice of the western representative in the Rose bowl would then depend on the vote of the 10 conference members which will be taken by telegraph next Monday.

The vote is not concerned with non-conference games and will not be held up for the remaining contests on the Southern California schedules. The Trojans will meet Notre Dame here Dec. 3 and the Bears will face Georgia Tech in Berkeley Dec. 26 and it is obvious that a decision on the western choice must be made before these schedules are completed.

Since Southern California and U. C. L. A. started meeting two years ago on the climax spot in their schedules, they have played a pair of thrillers. The 1936 game was a 7-to-7 tie and the '37 contest resulted in a 19-13 victory for Troy. Previously when the teams met in the opener of the season, Southern California scored wins of 76 to 0 and 52 to 0 in 1929 and '30.

Probable starting lineups:

So. California	Position	U.C.L.A.
Fisk	LE	McPherson
Stoecker	LT	Wyrick
Smith	LG	Pfeiffer

Tonelli	RG	Frawley
McNeil	C	Broadwell

'Leave Grid Rules Alone'–Crisler

BUFFALO, N. Y. (AP) — "Let football alone," Fritz Crisler, University of Michigan gridiron mentor, advised last night in an interview.

When asked about proposed changes in the rules, Crisler commented:

"If we make three or four changes every year, what kind of game will we have in 50 years? I think we have a good game now, evenly balanced."

Five years ago—George Weiss of Yankees denied report Babe Ruth was being considered as manager for Newark Bears of the International league.

DOUBLE FEATURE —By Alan Klein

ARMSTRONG'S GARCIA BOUT IS PUZZLING

NEW YORK. (AP)—The little group of serious thinkers that gathers in Mike Jacobs' back parlor each afternoon to swap guesses on the outcome of Friday night's welterweight championship fight between Henry Armstrong and Ceferino Garcia is making almost no progress.

The main difficulty seems to be that each is asking the other: "Who do you like?" and invariably is getting the same answer: "I dunno. Who do you like?" There's no variation to the conversation.

Communing with himself, the individual expert stares at the ceiling and mutters: "Wish I could pick the winner of this one. If I muff many more the sport editor's liable to start asking questions. Wonder if the boys are doing any business on this one."

By business, incidentally, he does not mean the ticket sale. It's almost an assured sell-out of more than $100,000. What the sports page swami ponders over is the more delicate type of "business" sometimes indulged in between rival managers.

Pilots of champions have, for instance, been known to turn up later with half-shares in new champions, the very ones that whipped their former bread-winners. This practice is known in the vernacular as "swapping." Happily, there is no reason to believe that the boys have cooked up anything like that for Friday night, even though it is a fact that Armstrong could lose his welterweight toga to Garcia and still be champion of all the lightweights.

No, the better guess is that Henry and Ceferino will be in there firing both barrels for 15 rounds, or until one of them drops. Both are in the very peak of condition, on the words of their trainers, and they look it. Armstrong looks much better than he did before he incurred the back injury that forced postponement of the scrap from its original date of Nov. 2.

For the past week the negro champion has been boxing without the "iron mask" that protected his under lip, which was severely cut the night he won the lightweight title from Lou Ambers. He and his buxom manager, Eddie Mead, have patched up a little difference of opinion that they had, and there is an air of confidence and harmony in the Armstrong camp.

As for Garcia, the broad-shouldered Filipino, there apparently never has been the slightest doubt in his mind that he can stop Henry's mad rush. His attitude simply is that a good 145-pounder should whip even an extra-good 135-pounder.

California Calls Apostoli 'Champ'

SAN FRANCISCO. (AP) — Fred Apostoli of San Francisco is the recognized middleweight champion of the world—at least he is in two states.

The California Boxing commission yesterday followed the New York commission's suit in recognizing the former bellhop who stopped young Corbett 3rd in New York last Friday night. Al Sandell, state boxing inspector, said the California commission last February had recognized Corbett as champion.

Barker Picks U. S. C., Army, Pitt, Oregon And Texas Christian

By HERBERT W. BARKER

NEW YORK. (AP)—With a final, groggy salute to the football season, this gridiron guesser takes a bird's-eye, long-range, possibly astigmatic, view of future proceedings and offers the following strictly unguaranteed "predictions."

THANKSGIVING DAY

Penn-Cornell: The spot for Cornell to clinch the Ivy league championship and the big red, featuring one of the nation's most powerful lines, ought to make the grade safely. Cornell.

Tennessee - Kentucky: Tennessee's volunteers should have no particular worries here. Tennessee.

Brown-Columbia: It's hard to believe that Columbia can have any more hard luck. This is the best Brown team in years but the hunch here is on Columbia, after a high-scoring duel.

Southern California-U. C. L. A.: Possibly the toughest one on the slate to figure. Each has a major objective — Southern California to earn a share in the conference title; U. C. L. A. To bowl over a "hated" home-town rival. The coin says Southern California.

Alabama-Vanderbilt: Another eenie-meenie affair. We'll take Alabama power over Vanderbilt football trickery.

Manhattan - Villanova: Villanova.

Nebraska-Kansas State: Has Nebraska's improvement been rapid enough to bring the Cornhuskers through? This ballot for Kansas.

Missouri-Kansas: Missouri.

North Carolina State-Carnegie: Picking Carnegie.

Virginia-North Carolina: Tarheels look too strong. North Carolina.

Clemson - Furman: Stringing along with Clemson.

Maryland-Washington and Lee: Flipping the coin, W. and L.

Virginia Military-Virginia Tech: V. M. I.

Also: Duquesne over Niagara: West Virginia over George Washington; Western Reserve over Case; Wake Forest over Davidson; Bucknell over Miami; Richmond over William and Mary; Colorado over Denver; Montana over Arizona.

SATURDAY, NOV. 26

Army-Navy: On their comparative performances against Notre Dame plus the Cadets' brilliant showing against Princeton last week, the ballot goes to Army.

Duke-Pittsburgh: A vital game for Duke's unbeaten, untied, unscored-on Blue Devils. They've tackled no team of Pitt's calibre this season. The customary vote is cast for Pitt on the theory that Goldberg, Cassiano and Stebbins will generate enough power to pull the Panthers through.

Southern Methodist - Texas Christian: The Southwest title hangs on the outcome. T. C. U. has overpowered all opposition so far; S. M. U. is undefeated within the conference. The nod goes to Christian's ensemble.

Stanford - Dartmouth: It's a long trip but we'll take Dartmouth.

Mississippi State - Mississippi: The signs all point to Mississippi.

Louisiana State- Tulane: Not much to choose. Tulane.

Georgia - Georgia Tech: Tech looks better.

Baylor-Rice: A pure guess, Baylor.

Boston College - Holy Cross: Probably close. Holy Cross.

Catholic-South Carolina: Taking South Carolina.

Fordham-New York University: Close, but take Fordham.

Florida-Auburn: Auburn.

Oklahoma-Oklahoma A. and M.: Undefeated Oklahoma Should remain that way.

Washington-Washington State: Washington.

Oregon-Oregon State: A shot in the dark, Oregon.

Texas Tech-Marquette: Texas Tech.

And these long distance views: Santa Clara over Detroit, Nov. 27; Georgia over Miami Dec. 2; Notre Dame over Southern California, Tennessee over Mississippi, Southern Methodist over Rice, Oklahoma over Washington State, Temple over Florida, and North Carolina State over Citadel, Dec. 3; Villanova over Loyola (Los Angeles), Dec. 17.

Sugar Bowl May Attract Fordham

NEW YORK. (AP) — Fordham's football team would be quite willing to listen if anybody should mention playing in the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans New Year's day. In response to a query by Herb Benson, chairman of the Sugar Bowl committee, Graduate Manager Jack Coffey of Fordham said yesterday that a lot would depend upon the outcome of Saturday's game with New York university, but if they should be invited to the bowl they would accept.

Sports Mirror

Today a year ago—Pittsburgh, California and Fordham were first three in national football ranking poll.

Three years ago—Stanford ended California's undefeated streak of nine games, 13-0, before 90,000 football fans at Palo Alto.

Notre Dame Will Entrain Monday

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (AP)—Notre Dame's undefeated — untied footballers, seeking their ninth straight win this season, will leave Monday for Los Angeles and the 1938 finale against Southern California Dec. 3.

The Irish entourage of 36 players will stop in Tucson, Ariz., next Wednesday and Thursday for workouts on the University of Arizona field. They will arrive in Los Angeles Friday night before the game.

LIEB RESIGNS AS LOYOLA GRID COACH

LOS ANGELES. (AP) — Head Coach Tom Lieb of Loyola university will guide the Lions for the last time next Sunday when they play Gonzaga here.

Lieb today had a letter of resignation in the hands of Rev. Father Charles A. McQuillan, president of Loyola, severing his connection as football and ice hockey coach, effective March 1, 1939, when his present contract expires.

On the receiving end of mounting complaints voiced over the poor showing of Loyola the past season, Lieb advised the school he was negotiating with "other institutions," but did not say where he hoped to land.

Football star and later assistant coach under Knute Rockne at Notre Dame, Lieb came to Loyola nine years ago. His record for the period shows 47 victories, 31 defeats and four ties.

The Lions lost seven games last year and to date have dropped five out of eight. The team lost its fourth straight last Saturday, 19 to 0, to Hardin-Simmons of Texas, and the seeming dispirited attitude of the players brought on an added wave of discontent.

'Y' QUINTETS IN 2 GAMES

Santa Ana Y. M. C. A. basketball rivalry will be resumed tonight when the Irvine five meets Barr Lumber company at 7:15 on the "Y" court and Al's Lock and Key outfit clashes with Southern Gas company at 8:30.

The Irvine quintet is undefeated with five consecutive wins to its credit—just one behind league-leading Treesweet.

Still battling to keep a strong place in the standings, Al's Lock and Key five will undoubtedly emerge near the top of the basketball pile after tonight's game with Southern Counties Gas company.

JAYSEES SET FOR CLASH TOMORROW

With the mythical junior college championship of Orange county as the prize, Santa Ana's Dons and Fullerton's Yellowjackets send their football teams into another "big game" in the Fullerton stadium at 2 p. m. tomorrow.

A capacity Thanksgiving Day crowd is expected for the struggle, which will close the Eastern conference schedule for both teams.

San Bernardino's Indians, who won the title from Chaffey 7-6 last week, will play Phoenix Jaysee in Arizona Saturday in an intersectional game.

The Santa Ana-Fullerton game will be strictly a toss-up on the basis of comparative scores, as follows:

SANTA ANA		FULLERTON
19	Pasadena	31
21	Santa Monica	0
6	L. A. City College	0
13	U. C. L. A. Frosh	13
25	Citrus	0
0	Pomona	0
0	San Bernardino	13
0	Riverside	0
7	Chaffey	14
6	San Mateo	6
12	Glendale	7
7	Taft	6
19	Pomona	13
7	Riverside	6
6	LaVerne College	0
20	Citrus	7
0	Chaffey	18
6	San Bernardino	27

Fullerton has the superior record in the conference with victories over Pomona, Riverside and Citrus, but the Yellowjackets have been hit by injuries, while Santa Ana has shown steady improvement in the past few starts. The Dons have one victory, two ties and two defeats in conference play.

It is likely that tomorrow's game will either end in a deadlock or be decided by one touchdown. Both teams annually "bear down" in this game.

Little Aubrey Minter, negro quarterback, will lead the Fullerton attack. He's a dangerous open-field runner. The Fullerton halfbacks, Ray Stone, Louis Batinski and Ray Winnen, have been hampered by injuries, and only Stone is a certain starter. Bill Goodchild probably will be at the other post, with Ralph Pickett, 166-pounder from Illinois, at fullback . . . Don Winters, regular end, is hobbling around on crutches, and will see the game from the sidelines.

Two changes were announced today in Santa Ana's tentative starting lineup—Ted DeVelbiss at left end and Vic Lindskog at right half. DeVelbiss will be playing his last game for the Dons.

Others in the starting lineup who will be representing Santa Ana for the last time are Co-Capt. Johnny Joseph, stellar right end; Gil Nehrig, tackle; Carroll Joy, quarterback; and Co-Capt. Larry Timken, fullback.

Freshmen starters in the Don lineup will be Wes Mulkins, tackle; Dale Mickelwaite or Dick Horton, running guard; Rollo Beck, left halfback; and Linskog, right halfback.

Other Santa Anans who are certain to see action are Glenn Cave and Jim Nunez, ends; "Cy" Leivermann and Tom Anderson, tackles; Bill Rose, guard; Larry Monroy, Lynn Arnett and Don Borden, quarterbacks; "Chuck" Stafford, Sam Henderson and Hal Tucker, halfbacks; Dick Saunders and Art Heinisch, fullbacks.

Sophomores naturally will rate the call over the freshmen in the traditional game, and all players who get in against Fullerton for any length of time will be assured of receiving letters, Coaches Bill Cook and John Ward said.

Fullerton Pep Rally Lures 500 Tonight

FULLERTON.—The final shot of "big - game" week on the Fullerton Junior college campus takes place tonight when more than 500 students are expected to be present for a skating party and giant pep rally for the Santa Ana game tomorrow afternoon.

The big attraction tonight will be the coronation of the "Turkey Day queen," Miss Alice Beauchamp, who was elected over three opponents in close balloting this week. Miss Beauchamp is a sophomore student from Bellflower.

Tomorrow between halves the queen will be presented with various gifts, including a football with signatures of all Hornet team members.

HAPPY THANKSGIVING TO YOU

Here's how to make your Thanksgiving more enjoyable and digestable.

For an appetizer use Roma 12 - year - old Vintage Sherry Wine. With food a good quality of dry wine. Garret Reisling, Burgundy or imported champagne.

After dinner with coffee a jigger of real imported Cognac, with a dash of Vermouth and for the evening what could be nicer than a hot toddy of Rum and Brandy or a Tom and Jerry. We have all the fixings.

EXTENSION OF HESTER ST. IS BEFORE BOARD

The board of supervisors' grief of early this year over opening of a short extension of Hester street between Manchester avenue and 101 highway was renewed again yesterday afternoon.

C. N. McNees, who led the fight against the board's action in declaring the street a public thoroughfare, filed a formal demand with the board that it rescind its action.

McNees was owner of property immediately adjoining the road and objected strenuously to its opening. Katella district residents, led by pioneer Thomas Haster, demanded that it be opened. The board, after a hearing, declared that the stretch had been used as a public road and would be declared to be one.

McNees cited sections of state laws which he said prevented such action. Supervisor John Mitchell agreed, saying, "I found out later we couldn't do what we did although we did it."

Deputy Dist. Atty. J. E. Walker will investigate the situation and report back later to the board on whether or not it must rescind the action.

TOASTMASTERS CLUBS MEET

Century Toastmasters' club was host to El Camino last night in a joint meeting with each club contributing three speakers to the program. Philip N. Hood, El Camino club, was toastmaster of the evening with speakers from his club being Dr. C. J. Ruley, Glenn Woolley and Frank Harwood. From El Camoino club were A. G. Green, Ted Blanding and Dr. M. W. Hollingsworth.

El Camino's speaker had as subjects, selected by lot from a number submitted, "Can the Churches of Santa Ana be Recommended?" "What Is the Future of the South?" and "Is the U. S. Headed Toward Di tatorship?" respectively. Century club men chose for Green, Blanding and Hollingsworth "Rule of Business," "The States Should be Consolidated Into Eight Districts" and "Socialized Medicine."

Critics were Ernest S. Wooster, E. M. Sundquist, Joe Daniger, Paul Alyberts and Charles Pritchard. Visitors were Louis Byram and Ernest Winbigler.

TOWNSEND NEWS, VIEWS

By WALTER R. ROBB

(This column deals with Townsend news and views. Any opinions which are expressed herein are not necessarily those of The Journal.)

"I will lift up mine eyes unto the hills, from whence cometh my help. My help cometh from the Lord, which made heaven and earth."—Psalms.

The psalmist trusted in the Lord's goodness. Therefore, he lifted up his voice in songs of praise. He saw in the things of nature manifestations of God's love for him. He, therefore, gave expression to the sense of security which he was experiencing because of God's care over him. In the wonders of the heavens he saw written testimony concerning Jehovah's greatness and in the bounties which the earth produced to supply his physical needs he found reason for thankfulness. It is no wonder that his gratefulness led him to exclaim at another time that:

"The Lord is my shepherd; I shall not want. He maketh me to lie down in green pastures. He leadeth me beside the still waters."

Tomorrow is Thanksgiving Day and this writer hopes that all his readers may be able to enjoy the same feeling of gratefulness and trust which the psalmist experienced. Such trust and confidence gives stability to life. It puts into the soul's structure something of the same qualities which makes God eternal. It is fine that once each year a day is set aside for the particular purpose of expressing gratitude to the Creator because of his goodness to man. If during tomorrow you fail to pause from the hurry of life to remind your heart that God is good then you will miss the purpose of Thanksgiving Day.

The writer wishes to express the hope that all his readers will enjoy a happy Thanksgiving Day. As members of the Townsend organization we have many things to be thankful for. We have achieved fine victories in the recent election. Many advances have been made. The 76th session of congress which convenes in January begins to grow rosy with promise that the Townsend plan bill will be debated on the floors of the house and senate. It appears that God favors our movement and has "caused his face to shine upon us." Let's thank Him for that as well as the other manifold blessings of the year.

There will be more than the usual reasons for thankfulness tomorrow in the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Rockwell, 117½ West Third, Santa Ana. The reason being that the day will be their fiftieth wedding anniversary. A half a century ago on Thanksgiving Day in 1888 in Alliance, Neb., this couple took the vows that has led them along the pathway of life together for 50 years. It chanced this way. Rockwell as a young man had drifted west and was engaged in the retail hardware business when Miss Lillian Mann, came to Alliance to visit a sister. They were introduced and their acquaintance ripened into more than friendship. They were married and Rockwell continued as a hardware merchant for some time. Later the urge to go westward again controlled them and 18 years ago they arrived in California. Five years ago they took up residence in our city where they now have a host of friends who join with this column in extending congratulations and best wishes for many more years of happy wedded life.

The day will be made for them more pleasurable because Mrs. Tracy E. Thompson, a daughter, her husband and two grandsons of the Rockwells, one named Robert and the other Tracy, jr., Thompson, will be present from their home in West Los Angeles to help celebrate the golden wedding anniversary event. Another daughter, Mrs. Florence Layton of Hollywood, and her son, Rockwell Layton; will also be present to increase the joys of the day for this elderly couple.

Santa Ana club No. 2 and many visiting members from other clubs had a very enjoyable time Monday evening in Townsend hall. Club No. 2 started the evening off by serving free ice cream, cake and coffee to all in attendance. Later Fred Nelson presided over an evening of entertainment and Townsend business transactions.

Mrs. Etta Erick contributed a piano solo, "When You and I Were Young Maggie," and dedicated it to Mr. and Mrs. Rockwell in recognition of their approaching golden wedding anniversary. Later she accompanied, while her 15-year-old son, Nicholas Ericks, played popular numbers on a group of six bottles. He was given fine applause which his numbers well deserved.

The Burk sisters, Anna Mae, Marvelle, Dora Lee and Ocilda, daughters of Mrs. Goldy Burks, 1411 West Fifth street, Santa Ana, were also roundly applauded for their contribution of piano, violin and vocal numbers. The negro spirituals which they rendered were especially appreciated.

The Bill and his Hillbillies orchestra of Orange gave a concert of splendid music. This group consists of Bill Henry, director, his son, Lloyd, Miss Maxine Reeves and Bill Doke. They frequently appear before the Townsend audiences and are always appreciated.

After the entertainment program had been completed those present again surrounded the tables and partook of the free refreshments. The lively music furnished by the orchestra led many feet to go tripping lightly over the floor after the regular program had been concluded.

HUNDREDS OF ELKS MEET AT ANNUAL DINNER

Several hundred Elks participated last evening in the annual Christmas turkey dinner at the home on north Sycamore street, served by Chef Duffy and his assistants, the proceeds going to the charity fund of the lodge, for distribution Christmas day.

The banquet was followed by several acts of vaudeville, in charge of John Miller. A unique act appearing on the vaudeville program was a talking parrot which could talk. At least the trainer understood the bird, and so did many of the audience.

From the entertainment of last evening many deserving families will benefit. The lodge has sponsered a Christmas program for many years, and cooperates with other fraternities in good cheer visits at that time when Santa Claus is expected to call and encourage those who are downhearted and heavy laden.

The proceeds accrued last evening will overcome problems which many families would be unable to solve.

WHO PAYS FOR CLEANING OF RIVER, ISSUE

Who pays the bill for cleaning out part of the Santa Ana river bed?

That question, a $10,000 problem, will be hashed out soon by county supervisors and outfall sewer district heads, as the result of a discussion yesterday afternoon by the county board.

Flood Control Engineer M. N. Thompson told the board that the county annually cleaned the river bed below the Talbert street bridge down to Victoria street, removing growths of tulles along the banks and generally making it easier for water to flow along the river.

This year, due to sewage flow down the river bed and excessive flood conditions, Thompson said the cleaning would cost about $10,000. Some supervisors thought the job should be paid for by the outfall sewer district, which uses the river bed for its pipe. Supervisor Harry Riley will confer with Thompson, Deputy Dist. Atty. J. E. Walker and sewer district officials and report back by next week.

C. S. LECTURE MONDAY NIGHT

CERTIFICATES OF CUB SCOUTS GIVEN 9 BOYS

Nine Santa Ana boys, Eugene Haney, Clyde Walker, Jimmy Richardson, Cahrles Jackson, Billy Eckles, Jack Duckett, Harlo LeBard, John DeBeck, Buddy Mitchell 11, and Richard Luera received Cub Scout pins and certificate at a meeting held in the church bungalow of the Richland Avenue Methodist church.

Dicky Marquard and Jackie Boyes were given honorary certificates to the organization. Earle Boyes was awarded a scoutmasters pin as the leader of the group.

Preceding the ceremonies a opened with Boy Scout Troop No. 31 giving the Boy Scout oath and laws. A talk was given by Lloyd Willcutt, Scout commissioner for Orange county district No. 2, on "Scouting, a Christian Program, and Its Relations to the Home and Church." Brief remarks were given by parents present. The meeting closed with Boy Scouts and Cub Scouts giving the Scout benediction together.

Refreshments of hot chocolate and cookies were served by the Boy Scouts. Mesdames Fred Miller, William Harding and L. M. Crowder served as the committee on refreshments.

The new Cub Scout troop is being sponsored by the Friendly Bible class of the Richland Avenue church. Troop committeemen are William Harding, Fred Miller, L. M. Crowder and M. I. Tuttle. O. P. Veach is president of the class.

QUINTS SING, DANCE IN FILM

The Dionne quintuplets have graduated.

Having served their screen apprenticeship, they are now revealed as full-fledged entertainers—singing, daoncing, making music and fun in their third and best feature, "Five of a Kind," which opens today at the West Coast theater.

"Five of a Kind" provides Dionne girls with a striking setting, as it whirls in and out of Broadway theater Friday afternoon action and romance of two rival newspaper and radio reporters.

The cast includes Jean Hersholt, Claire Trevor, Cesar Romero, Slim Summerville, Henry Wilcoxon, Inez Courtney, John Qualen and others.

On the same program is "Submarine Patrol," revealing the never-before-told story of the heroic "Splinter Fleet."

Tomorrow, Thanksgiving day, the West Coast will present continuous shows starting at 1 p. m. A special matinee for school children will be given Friday afternoon, to allow them to see "Five of a Kind."

Bette Davis 'Pretty Grand Actress,' Says Husband, But As Wife---; He Asks Divorce

LOS ANGELES. (AP)—From her discontented husband's point of view, Bette Davis' success as a film star made her a failure as a wife.

In a divorce suit on file today, tall, strapping Harmon O. (Ham) Nelson, erstwhile band leader, recited his mental suffering during his six-year marriage to the 108-pound actress, whose friends call her "Popeye."

Nelson, informally, indicated he felt no bitterness toward his wife. "I think that Bette is a pretty grand actress—the best on the screen. But she has become the best to the detriment of her home life," he said.

His legal complaint got down to brass tacks. It alleged:

Miss Davis, 1935 film academy prize-winner, became so engrossed in her profession that she failed to perform her marital duties, being inattentive, casual and distant to her husband "to the point of rudeness and embarrassment."

When asked to exhibit some evidence of conjudal friendliness and affection, she became "enraged and indulged in a blantant array of epithets and derision."

She refused to spend her vacations with Nelson, preferring to he with her sister or mother, and it became a matter of "public discussion."

She made Nelson's guests feel uncomfortable and unwelcome in their home by reading or otherwise occupying herself.

She told Nelson she no longer cared to live with him and asked him to "leave her alone with her work and family."

COWBOY CHAMPION

SALINAS. (AP)—Burel Mulkey, cowboy of Salmon City, Idaho, won the 1938 Rodeo Association of America National Cowboy championship with 8126 points, Sec. Fred McCargar announced today.

SANTA FE MAY LAY NEW RAIL AT PRADO DAM

A saving of more than 50 per cent in cost of laying railroad track on the new Santa Fe detour around Prado dam was imminent today as county supervisors formally requested the railroad to lay its own track.

Orange county will pay a share of the cost incurred, because of construction of the dam in Santa Ana canyon, which will require that the railroad tracks and the Santa Ana canyon highway be rerouted around the damsite.

Flood Control Engineer M. N. Thompson told the county board yesterday afternoon that the railroad was ready to lay the 38,000 lineal feet of track required on the detour, prepared by the county under contract.

The railroad, he said, could do the job for an estimated $28,000, whereas contract price for laying track is seldom less than $1.50 a lineal foot—or a total cost if the job were done under contract of $57,000. The board adopted a resolution asking the railroad company to proceed with laying the track, saving money for local taxpayers when they get the bill for their share.

GOLF TOURING SET

PASADENA. (AP)—Pasadena's seventh annual city golf championship will be played on the newly revamped Brookside park links Dec. 3-9, it was announced today.

DOLLARS CAN'T MEASURE TRUE HOME VALUES

Taking the position that the value of the home to family life is not completely summed up in dollars and cents, Wilbur Barr of the Barr Lumber Co., points to the moral and spiritual values which must be considered.

Both on the head of the family, and on its children, he says, the fact of home ownership exerts a powerful influence. "Many a man's success," he observed, "began at home. Even those men who have had a struggle to hold their homes, during hard times will tell you that their successful survival was immensely affected by the fact that they had something vital to fight for, something which gave them courage in their darkest hours."

It is impossible, Barr says, to put a value on the influence of the home on children. The feeling of stability, of continuity and family tradition, which is summed up in the word "background" is of practical value to men and women in later years, this dealer feels. It inculcates early a sense of responsibility, of respect for property, which affect the philosophy by which they live.

These are added reasons, says Barr, why "Smart People Build Before A Boom."

Today they can secure these advantages, and at the same time avail themselves of building costs which are lower now than they will be in the future.

MANY KINDS OF ROOF ARE GOOD

Satisfactory roofing may be obtained of many materials, including metal.

Features of metal roofing are its ability to withstand weather conditions without depreciation; its high degree of fire resistance; lightness of weight that makes heavy, costly supporting structure unnecessary; and the fact that it cools out rapidly after a warm day and thus assists in conditioning a house for comfort.

New roofing may be purchased and laid with funds obtained from private lending institutions qualified by the Federal Housing administration under its Phoperty Improvement Credit plan.

FASHIONETTES

By BARBARA

Tux and Gown Chatter

I guess most of you will be going to a football game after your big turkey dinner. There is nothing like a good football game to top off the day. Of course, the benches are sometimes damp, and everyone is crowding each other . . and of course there is always someone in the crowd who has had just a little too much holiday cheer, but it all adds to the excitement of the day. Maybe there will be friends with you who will not understand the game. Maybe they just won't know which side they want to root for. The only solution to this is, just tell them to yell for the side with the best looking jerseys, and the idea of the game is to get the ball between the goal sticks.

Then there's the big event we all look forward to after the game. Driving home, or rather trying to get home. Your car may be just one of those in the parking lot. Maybe you were fortunate enough to be the first car in. If you were, you'll wait until the rest of the cars have been taken out . . . you will dodge cars all the way home amid honking of horns and yelling of voices.

I seriously hope you all have a nice THANKSGIVING and so

Until next week . . . BARBARA.

HART'S DRY GOODS STORE . . .

HAVE on display in their store a table full of gay colored scarfs, both long and square. They are imported . . . and only imported merchandise has that difference . . . chic! The material is sheer wool . . . making them warm as well as lovely to look at. They will make wonderful inexpensive gifts. HART'S also carry a full line of REYMORE genuine leather hand bags. In all the wanted colors . . . styles. You will find them reasonably priced at $1.00 to $1.95.

☆ ☆ ☆

MEET THE GANG AT . . .

SCOTTIE'S, at 2209 North Main, after the football game. You'll be mighty hungry, and SCOTTIE'S will have plenty of hot BARBECUED TURKEY waiting for you. This famous drive-in eatery has been praised for its excellent food for a long while . . . and I know you won't be disappointed by it.

☆ ☆ ☆

STOCK UP ON . . .

THE delicious doughnuts to be found at the DO-NUT KETTLE, at 209 North Main. Yes, these are the same famous doughnuts found at Laguna Beach. By all means, come in and buy a dozen for breakfast, and don't forget . . . coffee and doughnuts served daily at the counter.

☆ ☆ ☆

LADIES, ATTENTION! . . .

THERE WILL be a cooking demonstration at WIESSEMAN'S at Main and 5th streets starting November 28th and lasting until December 3rd. Miss Raymond, a domestic science graduate, will be the hostess, and you are all invited to come.

Miss Raymond will demonstrate the CLUB ALUMINUM WARE, this is the same ware that has been sold directly to the homes for considerably more money, but WIESSEMAN'S are pleased to say that you will be able to procure this desirable ware at a price all will like to pay. They are waterless cooking utensils, thus eliminating excessive shrinkage of vegetables and a big saver on the gas bill. So don't forget . . . the 28th of November . . . you don't want to miss it.

THE CALIFORNIA PATIO POTTERY . . .

AT 414 WEST FOURTH, have a lovely table set in THANKSGIVING fall colors, in the Pacific pottery. Apricot and yellow dishes, with matching flowers, make a very striking arrangement. So if you happen to be in the vicinity of the PATIO POTTERY, drop in . . . a courteous salesman will auswer your questions.

YOU WILL LOOK . . .

JUST LIKE you had just stepped out of a band box . . . when you have your clothes cleaned at the WASHINGTON CLEANERS and DYERS at 1109 North Main street. We all like to look well groomed and it is such an easy thing to do. Just get in the habit of having your clothes cleaned and pressed . . . and the WASHINGTON CLEANERS are just the ones to do this work for you. Their careful . . . accurate work not only makes your clothes brighter and cleaner . . . but you will find they will wear longer and retain their original colors.

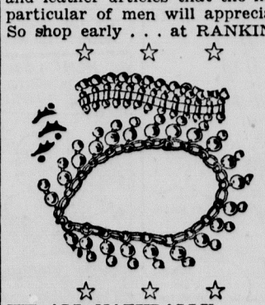

If you want your old garments to look like new . . . why not have them dyed a different color. Perhaps that is all the garment needs . . . just a different color. Give the WASHINGTON CLEANERS a try . . . their quality service cannot be equalled no matter how far you go.

☆ ☆ ☆

AT RANKIN'S . . .

LOCATED on the corner of Fourth and Sycamore streets, there are many tables on the street floor just loaded with gifts . . . and so inexpensive, too. There is one table with Lucien Lelong products in gift packages. There is dusting powder, soap, in lovely shades and wrapped so chic; then there is face powder, and many other things. On other tables are stationery, vases, what nots, and men's gifts. . . . Yardage gifts and leather articles that the most particular of men will appreciate. So shop early . . . at RANKIN'S.

☆ ☆ ☆

WE ALL NATURALLY . . .

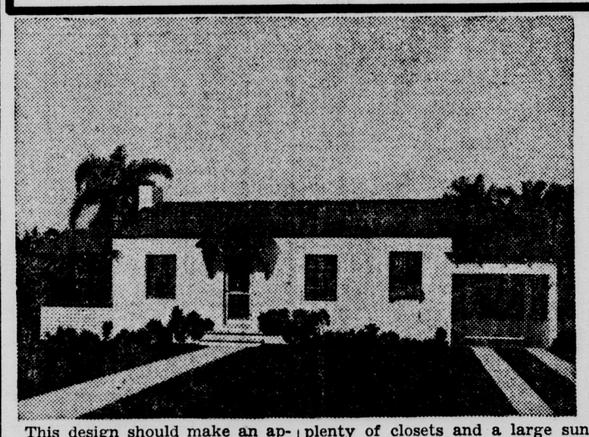

WOULD like to be well-dressed young ladies . . . and you can be, very reasonably too. At the LA DEANS FROCK SHOP, 515 North Main street, Arcade building, I found a vast array of dresses in all shades, sizes and prices. Nothing is over $7.95 and nothing under $3.95 . . . so drop in at LA DEANS . . . TODAY!

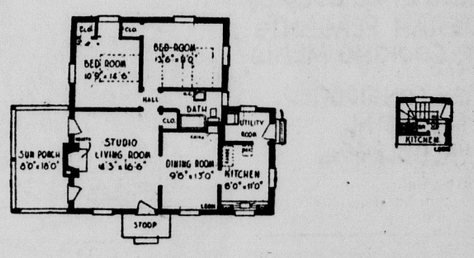

☆ ☆ ☆

I FOUND AT THE . . .

PITTSBURGH PAINT STORE, 401 West Fourth street, a window full of lovely mirrors in all shapes and sizes. These mirrors would make a lovely table center piece . . . hung on the wall would give depth to your room. Drop in today and see these lovely clear mirrors . . . they would make a useful as well as beautiful gift.

Build—Remodel—Repair

This design should make an appeal to the home builder with an eye for the unusual. The roof lines and placement of the entrance are among the distinguishing features. A study of the floor plan will reveal an ideal arrangement of large rooms with well placed bath, plenty of closets and a large sun porch. The high ceilinged living room, attractive fireplace and numerous doors and windows are particularly attractive features of the living room. The closets and many built-in features are deserving of attention.

THAT will be a widespread regret in the next few years when rents and building costs are soaring. Because it is true that "Smart People Build Before a Boom." This year offers building values that we won't see again for a long time.

It's simple to build a home, because we offer a complete building service, from plan to financing. Ask about it.

Phone, write or call for our 24-page booklet showing why SMART PEOPLE BUILD BEFORE A BOOM, with 24 home designs and other helpful hints. Only 10c.

PLATINUM UTENSILS . . .

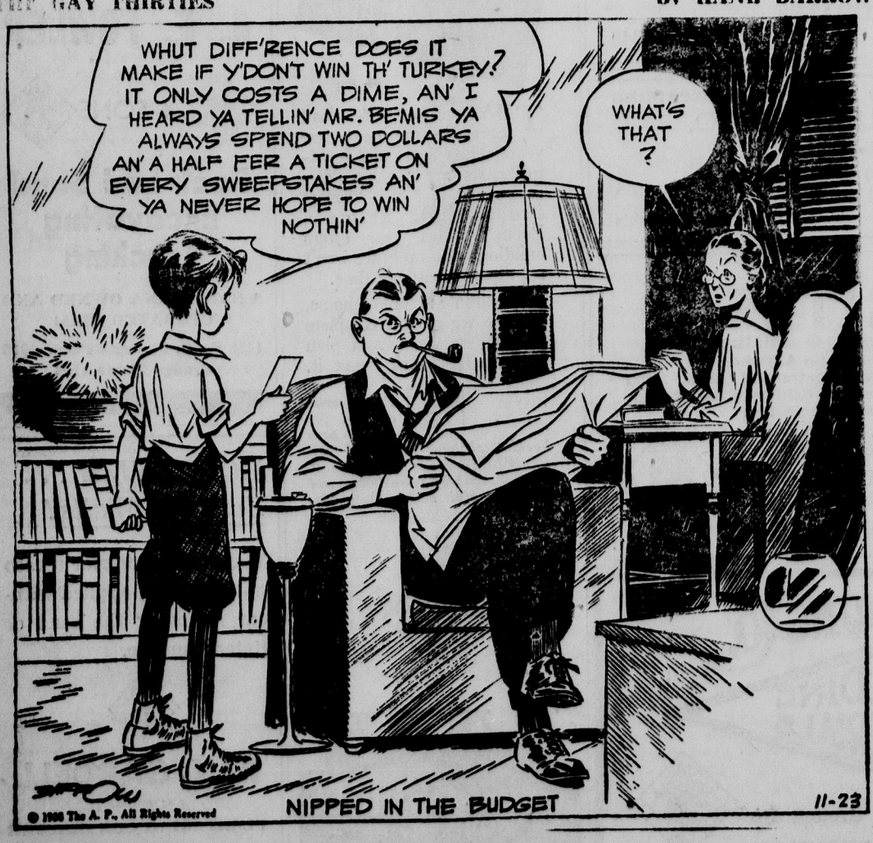

Strange as it seems, Russian peasants at one time made cooking pots and pans from platinum, a metal which today is worth five times as much as gold.

Early in the nineteenth century platinum was discovered in Russia, but full realization of its value was not to come until later years. Commonplace articles were made from it, buckles, snuff-boxes, and even cooking utensils.

Believed to have been discovered first in South America by early Spanish explorers, the metal came into ill repute in that country when it was used in making counterfeit gold. In 1774 several Spaniards were hung from the yardarms of Dutch ships for passing off platinum ingots instead of gold!

In 1828 Russia became the only country in the world to mint platinum coins, issuing $33,884,350 worth that year. Strange as it seems, those same coins would today be intrinsically worth more than $165,000,000. During the World war, when the price of platinum rose to a high of $105 an ounce, the Russian coins would have been worth nearly half a billion dollars.

New York Stocks

fare was spread thinly in the stock market today and provided only enough nourishment for a meagre rally.

The holiday tomorrow, while it tempted some closing out of speculative accounts on the bear side, seemed to be one of the influences making traders play safe on the spectators' benches.

There was barely enough business to keep stock tickers going much of the time, although a midday buying spurt was a help in raising transactions to about a million shares.

The slow-footed rally marked a change from the recent descent from the 1938 tops but brokers noted little difference in the essential characteristics of the market. In bonds and commodities, too, markets more or less were stalemated.

The Wall Street consensus still seemed to run toward expectation of more business improvement. But analysts figured speculative markets had entered one of the intervals of uncertain drift frequent in major trends upward.

Be Thankful For Orange County

Tomorrow being Thanksgiving, today is the proper time for us to put ourselves on record about being thankful. So we got a pencil out this morning to count our blessings. After running through several sheets of scratch paper, the train of thought went like this:

In the first place, we are very thankful we don't live in Germany or anywhere in Europe. On second thought, we are glad we don't live in China, or the Philippines, or Iceland. They have definite drawbacks. Thus we are thankful we live in the United States, where we get along more or less comfortably and don't have to salaam to a dictator or any kind of royalty.

But there are parts of the United States we would pass up. We're glad we don't live in the dust bowl, or in a hurricane area in Florida, or in the North, where it is cold. California's a pretty fine place.

Again, there are parts of California which aren't quite to our liking. It gets cold in some places, and there is fog and lots of rain to contend with in others. Some parts of California are desert, and others have drawbacks like too many mosquitoes or scorching summers.

But there's nothing much the matter with Orange county. We have a little wind now and then, and once in a while a night that's sort of nippy, and sometimes we have small floods.

But—considering what people in other parts of the world have to contend with, we get along pretty nicely here.

Come to think of it, we'd rather be here than anywhere else. And, among other things, we're thankful we're here.

Colonizing e Jews

Aside from its slightly possible benefit as a circulation stimulant for his newspapers, William Randolph Hearst's proposal to establish an African homeland for persecuted Jews seems to us virtually worthless.

We can't see how it could work. Like most plans set forth for solution of this problem, it ignores the undeniable fact that Jews are, and have been for centuries, a highly urbanized people; they are city people, and the only places to which they can be successfully transplanted are cities.

Hearst's proposal is to create a "new Jewish republic" in Africa, handing over to this homeless race a territory equal to about half the area of the United States, mostly in the interior of Africa where big centers of population just aren't.

Two leading population experts, Dr. Warren S. Thompson, director of the Scripps foundation for research in population problems at Miami university, and Dr. Frank Lorimer, secretary of the Population Association of America, recently declared it would be "sheer human waste to take these highly urbanized people and dump them in empty places where their training could find no outlet under the pioneer conditions that would ncessarily prevail."

We're inclined to agree with them.

Hearst's plan, however, has another potential hitch in it. Most of the land he would have handed over to the Jews is located in what once were Germany's African colonies, and, as the world knows, Hitler is out to get these colonies back.

Founding of that "Jewish republic" on former German territory would prove equivalent to jumping the Jews from one frying pan into another if Hitler does succeed in regaining these territories for the reich.

We truly wish we could offer a sensible substitute for Hearst's plan, but every time we start thinking about a solution we find our thought more concentrated on the reasons for the problem.

It seems rather hopeless that the world must strive to find a solution to a problem which has been brought to a head more by one man than by the fact that Jews live in his land; they live in other lands, too, but their presence there does not create a world disturbance—except in Palestine, where a re-colonization plan seemingly has failed.

When Hitler has finished with the Jews there will be other religious groups at whom his displeasure may be directed. And will the world be forced to help rescue them?

There must be a simpler solution.

Princess Wallis

Now that the Duke and Duchess of Gloucester have called upon the Duke and Duchess of Windsor, and now that King George and his queen, and possibly Prime Minister Chamberlain, are coming to visit the United States in the spring—

Well, it opens up a lot of new ground to speculation and imagination, doesn't it?

For instance, if, as rumor has it, ex-King Edward won't go back to England unless his American wife is recognized as a princess royal—

And if King George and his royal advisers believe British sentiment is now in a mood to accept the former Wallis Warfield as a member of the royal family—

And if King George and Prime Minister Chamberlain could arrange it so their visit to the United States coincided with an official pronouncement to the effect that an American commoner had been given official status as a member of the British royal group—

Well, that would certainly be a classical happy ending to one of the most famous romances in history—

And would doubtless clinch British and American good feeling in a way that no pact or treaty possibly could do.

Wouldn't it?

Fair Enough

By Westbrook Pegler

NEW YORK—It is hereby earnestly proposed that the U. S. A. would be much better off if that big, sprawling, incoherent, shapeless, slobbering civic idiot in the family of American communities, the City of Los Angeles, could be declared incompetent and placed in charge of a guardian like an individual mental defective. It is only a wistful thought, but the futility of hoping that this wise step might be taken just adds emphasis to the nuisance.

Los Angeles is the source and home of more political, economic and religious idiocy than all the rest of the country together and a concentration point of shiftless and inefficient culls who, being too lazy or lacking the ability to make good in their native regions, drift in expecting to be fed from heaven or the public pantry.

San Francisco, a city of character and manhood, has suffered greatly from the coolie competition of a rival having neither intelligence nor standards and is the first victim of the infantile giant to the south. The rest of the nation, however, has had to contend with the Townsend plan and the $30-every-Thursday scheme, and the influence of other absurdities emanating from Los Angeles has been bad.

The courts are notorious for the silly conduct of clowns in silk, and adolescent jurors who condone premeditated murder and let killers loose, because they bawl about love and the religious travesties which thrive in this atmosphere, have mocked sense and piety for years.

Nowhere but in Los Angeles could Upton Sinclair, admitting his inability to conduct his own enterprises successfully, have gathered the nucleus of a following which seriously threatened an important state with an economic hallucination described by one of his trusted lieutenants as the revolving of wheels within wheels. This was the plan by which a man with an old windmill who needed a pair of shoes and two pounds of stew meat traded the windmill to the owner of a gravel pit who traded gravel to a man building a concrete silo who gave him a calf whose hide became shoes on the feet and whose sinews became stew in the pot of the man whose necessities began the chain of transactions.

This, however, was a brief and simplified example of the commerce that was to have been imposed on California had the spirit of Los Angeles been elected.

In other cases the transformation of the second-hand windmill into shoes and stew would have ranged from end to end of the vast state—peaches for pork chops, mop-handles for chewing-gum, an axle for a saxophone lesson, and so forth, until hundreds of men had struck trades with others who miraculously happened to need exactly what was offered, and vice versa, and suddenly all settled down to the enjoyment of the things they needed most.

But Mr. Sinclair's plan was a model of practical distribution by comparison with the fantasies of others which have originated in Los Angeles, at least one of which, according to its author, who ran for congress, came to him in thundered tones from an unseen speaker, believed to be God, as he sat waiting his turn to expound his wisdom in a church.

Up to that moment he had never known anything about money or economics, but, when a minute later, he was called upon to speak the ideal plan had been revealed to him out of the air, as he said, perfect in all its details.

Los Angeles is a region, not a city, with limits extended far beyond the practical ability of even a good city administration to govern, and extended for evil motives—not legitimate civic ambition. The town stretched to take in useless, worthless real estate, owned by foresighted grafters, and to advance the lines of defense against efforts to organize labor.

But neither the size of the place nor the incoherence of its government accounts for the lunacy which is characteristic of the place and for which it is known above every other characteristic. Nobody has been able to explain why Los Angeles is peculiarly susceptible to absurdities in all fields, particularly those of the mind and soul, and the solution seems hardly worth the bother. It is like trying to determine why a crazy man is crazy, but with a difference.

The difference is that the crazy man is recognized to be nuts and is placed under glass, whereas Los Angeles enjoys the rights and freedom of normal communities and sometimes half-convinces people elsewhere there is nothing peculiar about cutting paper dolls.

Something new for home workshop enthusiasts is a three-in-one bench attachment which combines vice, bench stop and clamp all in one. When attached to the end of the bench the tool employs a reversible block, on one end of which is the smooth, conventional vise. It may be used as a stop when flat work is being done. The other end has a V-opening for holding work on edge.

MODEST BROWNING

Robert Browning was a modest poet, never averse to comparing his own works unfavorably with those of men whom he considered greater writers than himself. He particularly admired the writings of Matthew Arnold, whom he numbered among his dearest friends.

Returning from a meeting of the committee for a memorial to Arnold, shortly after his passing, Browning remarked sadly to a friend: "I have been thinking all the way home of dear old Mat, and of his hardships. He told me once, when I asked him why he had not written any poetry lately, that he could not afford to do it; but that, when he had saved enough, he intended to give up all other work, and go back to poetry."

Browning paused, and when he continued his voice shook with emotion. "It's very hard," he went on, "that a useless fellow like me should have been able to give up all his life to it—for, as I told you, my father helped me to publish my early books—while a splendid fellow like Arnold could not afford to write the poetry we wanted of him."—Christian Science Monitor.

WASHINGTON.—You can write it down in the book that Hugh Wilson will not return as U. S. ambassador to Germany, unless it be for the purpose of packing up his furniture.

One reason for his recall was, of course, a desire to express moral indignation and rebuff the nazis. But a second, undercover reason is that Wilson never was slated for a long term as ambassador to Berlin.

A leader of the state department's pro-nazi career clique, Wilson has always favored cooperation with Hitler. His policy has been to build up Germany as a buffer against Russia — a policy identical to that of Neville Chamberlain and the notorious nazi-loving Cliveden set.

Roosevelt sent Wilson to Germany on the advice of the state department, which wanted to try out the idea of turning the other cheek to the nazis instead of constantly irking them as William Dodd, the previous outspoken ambassador, had done.

In agreeing to send Wilson to Berlin, Roosevelt, however, made it clear that he would probably replace Wilson with a political appointee at an early date, and it is quite possible that a presidential intimate such as Governor Frank Murphy of Michigan will get the job.

Meanwhile, the Berlin embassy is in charge of Prentiss Gilbert, one of the most democratic-minded counselors in the career service.

Another motive in the recall of Wilson is that it divorces U. S. policy from Chamberlain's and demonstrates to the American public that Roosevelt is not entirely following the lead of Downing street, as he definitely has done in the past. Chamberlain's ambassador Nevile Henderson, one of Berlin's most ardent foreign nazi admirers, is a close friend of Wilson and his wife.

PREMATURE

The extent to which Jim Farley was caught off base by the election is illustrated by this hilarious incident: A few minutes after the close of the Oregon polls, Jim wired congratulations to Willis Mahoney, democratic senatorial candidate, on his resounding victory. Fifteen minutes after Mahoney got the telegram, first returns came in showing him running far behind.

TAXED JUDGES

In the path of the administration's drive to end federal tax immunity stands a large stumbling block placed there by a federal judge, and supported by other federal judges.

Judge Joseph W. Woodrough of the circuit court of appeals in Omaha has filed suit against the collector of Internal revenue for refund of an income tax payment of $631.60 plus interest. The irony of Woodrough's action is that he was promoted to his present post by Roosevelt, with an increase of salary from $10,000 as district judge to $12,500.

The first effort to tax the pay of federal judges was made in 1932 under President Hoover, when congress passed a law that salaries of judges appointed after that date be subjected to taxation like those of other federal officials. Woodrough maintains that this law is unconstitutional and has gone to the judiciary to uphold his stand.

Of the more than 60 federal judges appointed by Roosevelt, a majority are opposed to the statute that subjects them to taxation. Some have signified their intention to join suit with Woodrough.

Of the half dozen that favor the tax, three are court of appeals judges frequently mentioned as supreme court possibilities: Sam Bratton of New Mexico; Florence Allen of Ohio; and Harold M. Stephens of the District of Columbia.

Note: If the case comes to the supreme court, three justices will be obliged to abstain from an opinion because the law affects them. They are Justices Black, Reed, and the justice to be appointed in Cardozo's place.

The judge held no comment could be made until after the case had been settled on appeal. So serious is the matter considered by publishers that Ed Scripps, head of the Scripps League of Newspapers, has asked his astute attorney, Sam Hahn, to aid the Times.

ST. LOUIS, Mo.—By Science Service)—If you fell down and broke a tooth when you were a child no one cared very much. After all, reasoned your parents, it was just a "baby," a "milk," or a "first" tooth. Replacements would come later, and that was that. Small boys with gaping holes in their teeth were only signs of robust youngsters.

But now dentists, at the meeting of the American Dental association here, are turning psychologists and urging the name "foundation teeth" to replace "baby teeth" as the proper designation to stress the real importance of a child's primary teeth and to emphasize that they need attention which will given the future dental pattern of the youngster grown to manhood.

Dr. Joseph H. Kauffmann, New York City, was among those who urged the new term to replace the negative and temporary connotation of "baby" teeth.

Three years of age is the proper first time for a child to visit a dentist, said Dr. John C. Brauer of Iowa City, La., before the convention. It is up to the dentist to win the child's confidence on this first visit, he added.

Major item on Dr. Brauer's list of don'ts for parents was: Don't sandwich a child's appointment in with that of a parent. Let the child have his own appointment in the morning hours.

PURELY IMAGINERY (HERE)

"The death of the Lindbergh baby, caused by the German, Gerhardt Hauptmann, was followed by a spontaneous uprising of American citizens throughout the land against all citizens of German descent.

"Fifty thousand men, women and children were rounded up on the eastern seaboard and put in concentration camps. Fuehrer Roosevelt announced that all persons of German blood were aliens, though many were descendants of 'Germans' resident in the U. S. almost since its discovery. A German was announced to be a person whose one grandparent may have been half-German.

"A government proclamation was issued that no stores were to sell food or clothing to the Germans, that no Germans were to be permitted to enter public buildings, schools or libraries, that no German was to be allowed to operate a store or business of any kind. No American was allowed to employ a German.

"The leaders of every Turnverein, German-American society, German brass band, the owners of German restaurants, meat packers, and members of German cooperative groups, were seized as hostages and sent to Leavenworth and Alcatraz.

"A fine of $400,000,000 was assessed against the Germans, and all the homes, savings accounts, insurance policies, stocks, real estate and personal belongings of Germans, were seized to insure payment of the fine. The nationwide burning and looting of German Lutheran and Catholic churches, stores thought to be owned by Germans, and German homes, and the killing of isolated Germans throughout the country, was described by G-men as the spontaneous result of resentment on the part of the American people, and not controllable by the government. Fuehrer Roosevelt today released a proclamation advising all owners of ruined German shops, schools, stores and churches that they would be fined, in addition to the $400,000,000, sums sufficient to repair the damages, since those damages were provoked by Germans.

"Admiral Block was taken into protective custody by the secret service. All pensions were discontinued to injured veterans of the Spanish American and World war, who were of German descent, and leaders of American Legion posts, and DAR and GAR chapters, of German descent, were imprisoned. German athletes were barred from competition on college teams. Owners of movie houses showing pictures with actors and actresses with German names, were held incommunicado. All churches in which German pastors had preached, were burned, as they were unholy. All kindergartens, being a German invention, were discontinued, and kindergarten teachers were imprisoned for sullying purity of thought at its source.

"All music by Bach, Beethoven, Brahms, Wagner and Haydn was ordered eliminated from all American public and private performances, orchestra leaders who had directed their symphonies were imprisoned, and phonographs, records and radios were confiscated. Books by Goethe and Schiller were burned in huge bonfires in public squares in New York, Los Angeles, Boston, Chicago, San Francisco and New Orleans. The philosotext book of Plonck, the philosophy books of Schopenhauer, the books dealing with the biological discoveries of Wiessman, were ordered destroyed, since their truthfulness was now known to be in question because of the German authorship. All texts making any reference to German history, biography or philosophy were ordered destroyed, as they were held to instill lies in young minds. The American Medical association expelled all German doctors and state bar associations forbade all German lawyers to practice, on pain of death.

"The technique for staining bacteria, the grinding of lenses, the manufacture of photographic equipment, the use of dyes and of stainless steel, were discontinued in America because their inventors were German, and hence their use would be un-American.

"Iceland, Greenland, Portuguese consulates were beseiged by panic-stricken Germans in an effort to escape the country, but immigration was severely checked, immigration quotas watched. Secretary of the Interior Ickes and Secretary of War Woodring issued statements saying that the American people had to protect themselves against these 'beasts of Germans' who slay little children, and that the democratic party would not rest until all Germans had been exterminated, and the pure American strain protected from defilement.

"Canada and Mexico, whose newspapers reported these facts, were warned by the American government to shut up, and that any further comment would be followed by even harsher measures directed against the German population.

"It was indicated in Washington that this was merely the beginning of an effort to cleanse the American nation of defilement and of the subtle and all-embracing conspiracy of those of German descent to enslave all pure Americans."—Jewish Community Press.

DALE CARNEGIE'S Day —By— Day Philosophy

Luck trails all of us occasionally. But we've got to be able to handle it when it comes. Here's a story of how one chap handled it twice to advantage, though on one occasion it could hardly be recognized as luck when it came.

Alan Mowbray—whom most of you have seen on the screen—served in the World war with the "Old Contemptibles." He was gassed twice, wounded several times and finally received a decoration from King George V of England.

He hadn't as yet found a "post"—"job" to us Americans—when he called at a theatrical agency in London one day to look for a friend. As he sat in the outer office, a casting director mistook him for an actor. He was offered a tryout in a play and got the part! There was only one drawback. He didn't know how to act! He learned the part only to find in rehearsal that he was terrible. What was he to do about it? Confess that he knew nothing about acting and throw up the job? Just as he was learning how fascinating the stage could be? Not Alan Mowbray! Instead, he cast about for a life-saver. He thought he detected one in the group around him. He invited the entire cast to luncheon. Fortunately for Alan, there are times when actors don't eat too sumptuously before the show goes on. They all accepted! And they like this kindly, generously inclined chap. They taught him what to do. Every actor in the cast gave Alan the benefit of his own experiences. And he got away with it!

After several London plays, he nurtured aspirations for a New York success. He came over, and tried for four months to get a job on Broadway. Then frightfully discouraged, he says, he sat down on a bench in Central Park to have it out with himself. He was dead broke; and had had nothing to eat for two days. And empty stomach has a marked effect on one's morale. He courage was gone. He was ready to give up.

Suddenly a thug stood before him, thrust a revolver at him and snarled: "Stick 'em up!"

Alan lifted his hands. Then like steel springs, his legs lifted him from the bench; his fist cracked on the fellow's chin, and the gun feel to the sidewalk.

Snatching the gun, Alan invited the ruffian to take a walk for his health. He did just that, while Alan left the revolver at the nearest pawnshop and ate at the first cafeteria he could find. His stomach filled, his courage rose. He decided he'd go once more to the casting office.

That day he got an engagement with the Boston Repertory company and his American career was started.

One of his treasures is the little 22-caliber revolver which he redeemed from the pawnbroker.

The man who hangs on in black advertisty rarely fails to make good when luck finally comes.

The other day I was talkin' to one of the stars of a little studio out here and I asked him to tell me the truth about how he got into pictures and he says "Well, I was a waiter in one of them high priced night clubs in New York. The producer came in there one night and I waited on him and when he got through he had jest enough money to pay his check, but not enough to tip me, so he gave me the lead in his next picture."
